ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Most praise is to the Almighty God, Lord of Creation. It was his infinite mercy and blessing that came to my assistance and brought this thesis work to a successful conclusion. Thus, I bow for his gratefulness to the Almighty, whose grace enabled me to complete this thesis.

The successful completion of my thesis work also makes me indebted to many people. Although it is impossible to mention every one who has contributed, I particularly want to express my appreciation to the following individuals:

It is my pleasure and privilege to express my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to my supervisor, Sanjeev Kumar Sharma (Dr.), University Business School (UBS), Panjab University (PU), Chandigarh, for his superb guidance, keen attitude, inspiring, candid assistance, and all out support in producing this thesis, from the stage of conception to completion.

I am extremely thankful to Prof. S.C. Vaidya (Dean, Faculty of Business Management and Commerce) and Prof. Dinesh K. Gupta (Chairman, UBS), Panjab University, Chandigarh for their guidance and support. My heartfelt thanks also goes to Prof. Satish Kapoor, my respected professor and former Dean of the Faculty of Business Management and Commerce, Panjab University, Chandigarh for his unforgettable ice-breaking and constant reinforcement for the completion of my study and offered sage advice.

My thanks to B.B. Goyal (Dr.), S.K. Chadha (Prof.), Yash Pal (Dr.), Ajay Garg (Dr.), Anupam Bawa (Dr.) and all the esteemed faculty members of the Department of University Business School, Panjab University, Chandigarh, who have always been supportive and given me their guidance, assistance, and inspiration through out my study.

I am extremely grateful to all my professors (since my elementary school) who had been making my dreams certain.

I would also like to express my honest thanks to the authors whose works I have the privilege to consult and quote so frequently in my thesis for the thesis would not have been accomplished without their academic contribution to the domain of my study.
I wish to convey my thanks to Mr. S.S. Bedi and his colleagues (Librarians, UBS) and Mr. Sukhdev Singh and his colleagues (Administrative staff, UBS), PU for their generous help in providing me with the necessary support when needed.

I am very much indebted for the Mekelle University's and Sheba University College's students, academic staff, administrative staff and management for taking their valuable time to fill my questionnaires and have sincere interview sessions.

This thesis is devoted to my late father (Ato Sahlu Desta) and my late mother (W/o Zewditu Sinke). It is also my pleasure to extend my heartiest thanks to my family (Ato Woldegebriel Sahlu, Ato Kinfe W/Mariam, Ato Kiflemariam Sahlu, Ato Yibrah Sahlu, W/o Silas Sahlu, W/o Alganesh Sahlu, Mr. Yemanebhran Woldegebriel and W/o Letebrhan Sahlu along their beloved sons and daughters) for extending their love, care, and extreme cooperation when needed. Especially, I am immensely indebted to Mr. Yemanebhran Woldegebriel for turning the 1985's (1978 E.C.) dusk in to the present dawn.

Warm thanks are due to my wife, W/o Arsema Girmay, for her insightful and helpful comments, recommendations, and the hard work put in helped me most to complete my thesis. I am also pleased to acknowledge my lily daughter, Abigail Tesfatsion, for her patience and affectionate support.

Finally, my special tribute of gratitude goes to my colleagues, friends and other individuals that are not mentioned by name but who have helped me at every step of the study in bringing this work in its final shape.
