ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am eternally beholden to a large number of persons and patrons who have contributed in various ways towards making this work see the light of the day.

The conception and completion of this thesis owes much to the inspiring and able supervision of Dr. (Mrs.) Pushpa Chaudhary, Reader (Retd.) Department of Education at the Panjab University, Chandigarh. Her intellectual precision, penetrative insight, enduring commitment to academic values, and earnest zeal for perfection have constantly inspired me in myriad ways – academic, social, and intellectual. In fact Dr. (Mrs.) Chaudhary is not only my supervisor but also my ideal philosopher. Working under her supervision was not only a memorable intellectual experience, but also a privilege for me. I shall forever remain deeply indebted and grateful to her.

I am beholden also to Dr. (Mrs.) Raj. K. Gupta, Chairperson, Department of Education for her many kindnesses, as also to other members of the faculty of the Department, in particular to Dr. (Mrs.) Kirandeep Singh, Lecturer, Department of Education for her invaluable advice and scholarly guidelines.

I am sincerely grateful to the Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for providing me the facilities to complete this thesis.

My husband, Dr. Seyed Sadroddin Moosavi, who provided an exemplary academic atmosphere at home, where every single word of the thesis came up for critical scrutiny, deserves as rich and earnest thanks. I shall also express my gratitude to my sons, who tolerated all the hardships with me throughout the period of my research.

The large number of libraries that enabled and enriched the completion of this work, apart from the ones at the Panjab University, including the Library of the Department of Education, have been: The Main Library of the Tehran University as well as the libraries of related faculties, the Library of Beheshti University, the Archives of the Statistical Center of Iran, and the Archives of the Center for Women Participation.

My special thanks are due to the students of the universities who, despite their preoccupation with their studies patiently filled up the lengthy questionnaires and rendered generous cooperation so that the data were collected for the present study. My special thanks are also due to Dr. Mohammad Reza Taleban who rendered credible assistance in the processing of the raw data. My thanks are due to the Center for Data Processing of Iran for processing of the data for this research.

To my parents, brothers and sisters my debt is deeply personal, rich, inexpressible and eternal.

My thanks are due to those who helped me directly or indirectly but their names have not been mention here.

Last but not the least I am thankful to Mr. Varun of Harbans Reprographic, Panjab University Campus, Chandigarh, for type-setting of my thesis work and giving a presentable shape to its manuscript.

November 29, 2006

Azam Hosseini