CHAPTER I
INTRODUCTION 1 – 32
1.1 Teacher – The Pivot 2
1.2 Nation-Building and Elementary Education 5
1.3 Educational Background of Assam 10
1.4 Operational Definition of the Terms Used 14
1.4.1 Burnout 15
1.4.2 Self-concept 19
1.4.3 Introversion-Extraversion 23
1.5 Emergence of the Problem 27
1.6 Statement of the Problem 29
1.7 Objectives of the Study 29
1.8 Hypotheses 29
1.9 Delimitations 30
1.10 Need and Significance of the Study 30

CHAPTER II
CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK 33 – 61
2.1 Burnout 33
2.1.1 Burnout and Related Phenomenon : A Distinction 36
2.1.2 Dimensions of Burnout 38
2.1.3 The Ecological Perspective of Burnout 39
2.1.4 Factors Contributing to the Experience of Burnout 40
2.2 Self-concept 45
2.2.1 Theory of Self-concept 48
2.2.2 Dimensions of Self-concept 49
2.2.3 Measurement of Self-concept 51
2.3 Introversion-Extraversion 54
2.3.1 Theories of Personality Organisation 55
2.3.2 Type Theories 59

CHAPTER III
RESUME OF RELATED LITERATURE 62 – 106
3.1 Studies Related to Burnout 63
3.2 Studies Related to Burnout and Self-concept 80
3.3 Studies Related to Burnout and Introversion-Extroversion 88
3.4 Studies Related to Self-concept and Introversion-Extroversion 94
3.5 Studies Related to Burnout, Self-concept and Introversion-Extroversion 98
3.6 Conclusions 104
3.7 Trends 106

CHAPTERS IV
METHOD AND PROCEDURE 107 – 127
4.1 Design of the Study 107
4.2 Dimensions of the Design 108
4.3 Sample 112
4.4 Tools Used 113
4.5 Administration of the Tools 113
4.6 Descriptions of Tools 114
4.6.1 Maslach Burnout Inventory 114
4.6.2 Personality Word List 120
4.6.3 Kundu Introversion-Extroversion Inventory 122
4.7 Data Collection 126
4.8 Statistical Techniques Used For Data Analysis 127
4.9 Processing of Data 127

CHAPTER V
ANALYSIS, INTERPRETATION AND DISCUSSION OF RESULTS 128 – 163
5.1 Objectives 128
5.2 Hypotheses 129
5.3 Analysis of the Data Employing ANOVA 130
5.3.1 Analysis of Variance for 2 x 2 x 2 Factorial Design for the Variables of Self-concept, Introversion-Extroversion and Sex 131
5.3.1.1 Main Effects 131
5.3.1.2 Interpretation of the Main Effects of Self-concept, Introversion-Extroversion and Sex Analysis of Variance (ANOVA) 132
5.3.1.3 Interpretations of the Interaction Effects of the Analysis of Variance

5.3.1.4 Double Interactions

5.3.1.4.1 Self-concept and Introversion-Extraversion (S x P) 133
5.3.1.4.2 Self-concept and Sex (S x S') 134
5.3.1.4.3 Introversion-Extraversion and Sex (P x S') 135
5.3.1.4.4 Triple Interaction of Self-concept, Introversion Extraversion and Sex (S x P x S') 136

5.3.2 ANOVA For 2 x 2 x 2 Factorial Design For the variables of Self-concept, Introversion-Extraversion and Sex in Respect of Depersonalisation

5.3.2.1 Interpretation of the Main Effects of Self-concept, Introversion-Extraversion and Sex
5.3.2.2 Interpretation of the Interaction Effects (Two levels) of the Analysis of Variance
5.3.2.2.1 Interpretation of the Self-concept and Introversion-Extraversion Personality (S x P) 139
5.3.2.2.2 Self-concept and Sex (S x S') 140
5.3.2.2.3 Introversion-Extraversion and Sex (P x S') 141
5.3.2.2.4 The Triple Interpretation Among Self-concept, Introversion-Extraversion and Sex Interpretation Respect of Depersonalisation 142

5.3.3 ANOVA For 2 x 2 x 2 Factorial Design for the variables of Self-concept, Introversion-Extraversion and Sex in Respect of Personal Accomplishment

5.3.3.1 Interpretation of the Main Effects of Self-concept, Introversion-Extraversion and Sex
5.3.3.2 Interpretation of the Interaction Effects (Two level) of the Analysis of Variance
5.3.3.2.1 Self-concept and Introversion-Extraversion (S x P) 146
5.3.3.2.2 Self-concept and Sex (S x S') 146
5.3.3.2.3 Introversion-Extraversion and Sex (P x S') 147
5.3.3.2.4 The Triple Interpretation among Self-concept, Introversion-Extraversion and Sex in Respect of Personal Accomplishment (S x P x S') 148

5.3.4 Discussion of Results on the Basis of the Three-way Analysis of Variance (2 x 2 x 2)

1 Discussion of Results on the Basis of Main Effects
(a) Main Effects of Self-concept 151
(b) Main Effects of Introversion-Extraversion 152
(c) Main Effects of Sex 153
5.3.5 Discussion of Results on the Basis of Interaction Effects

A) First order Interaction Effects
   I) Interaction Effects of Self-concept and Introversion-Extraversion
   II) Interaction Effects of Self-concept and Sex
   III) Interaction Effects of Introversion-Extraversion and Sex

B) Second order Interaction Effects
   The Interaction effects of Self-concept, Introversion-Extraversion and Sex

5.4 Correlational Approach

5.4.1 Discussion Based on Inter-correlation Between Sub-measures of Burnout
5.4.2 Discussion Based on Inter-correlation Between Burnout and Self-concept
5.4.3 Discussion Based on Inter-correlation Between Burnout and Introversion-Extraversion
5.4.4 Discussion Based on Inter-correlation Between Self-concept and Introversion-Extraversion
5.4.5 Discussion Based on Inter-correlation Between Self-concept and Burnout
5.4.6 Discussion Based on Inter-correlation Between Burnout and Introversion
5.4.7 Discussion Based on Inter-correlation Between Self-concept and Introversion
5.4.8 Discussion Based on Inter-correlation Between Extraversion and Burnout
5.4.9 Discussion Based on Inter-correlation Between Self-concept and Extraversion

CHAPTER VI
SUMMARY, CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

6.1 Summary
6.1.1 Introduction
6.1.2 Statement of the Problem
6.1.3 Objectives of the Study
6.1.4 Hypothesis
6.1.5 Delimitation
6.1.6 Design of the Study
6.1.7 Sample
6.1.8 Tools Employed
   6.1.8.1 Maslach Burnout Inventory (MBI)
   6.1.8.2 Self-concept (PWL)
   6.1.8.3 Kundu Introversion-Extraversion Inventory (K.I.E.I)

6.1.9 Administration and Scoring of Tools
6.1.10 Statistical Techniques Employed

6.2 Conclusions and Findings of the Present Study
   6.2.1 Regarding the Impact of the Presage Variables of Self-concept, Introversion-Extraversion and Sex in Respect of Burnout
      A) Self-concept
      B) Introversion-Extraversion
      C) Sex
      D) Interactional Effects

6.3 Major Conclusions Based on Correlational Approach
   6.3.1 Burnout and Self-concept
   6.3.2 Burnout and Introversion-Extraversion
   6.3.3 Burnout and Introversion Personality
   6.3.4 Burnout and Extraversion
   6.3.5 Self-concept and Introversion-Extraversion
   6.3.6 Introversion orientation and Self-concept
   6.3.7 Extraversion orientation and Self-concept

6.4 Recommendations
6.5 Suggestions for Further Research
