ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is my profound privilege to express my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to Professor G. L. Arora, M.Sc., Ph.D. (London), D.I.C. (London), F.R.Z., F.R.E.S., F.R.S.I. and Principal Investigator, PL 480 Project on Fruchidius, Department of Zoology, Panjab University, Chandigarh for his keen interest, invaluable guidance and constructive criticism throughout the course of the present work. I am really grateful to him for his incessant encouragement and advice during the collection-cum-survey tours to some of the far-flung States of India which I had the opportunity to travel with him, and above all for the pains he has taken in scrutinizing the observations.

My sincere thanks are due to Dr. H. R. Pajini, Reader in Entomology, Department of Zoology, Panjab University, Chandigarh for his useful suggestions and time to time help.

I am highly grateful to Prof. G. P. Sharma, Prof. H. S. Vasisht (formerly Heads) and Prof. S. Vheera, Chairman, Department of Zoology, Panjab University, Chandigarh for providing me the best possible laboratory facilities.

The generosity of the sponsors of U.S. PL 480 Project for making available necessary finances and affording facilities for collections and study, is gratefully acknowledged.
My warm thanks go to Dr. S. K. Verma, Department of Botany, Panjab University, Chandigarh and to my friends who rendered their selfless help during the compilation of my thesis.

I feel highly indebted to my parents and Mrs. G. L. Arora for their good wishes and encouragement throughout the period.
