ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This research has been a long term effort which would have been impossible without all the people who have helped me. First of all I like to express my deepest sincere gratitude to my supervisor Dr Seema Vinayak, Chairperson, Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh. Her continuous guidance, invaluable suggestions, affectionate encouragement, generous help and important acumen are greatly acknowledged. Her keen interest and expertise on the topic and enthusiastic support on my effort was a source of inspiration to carry out the study. I consider myself fortunate to work under her supervision.

I appreciate faculty and staff of the Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, Dr Suresh Sharma, Department of Statistic, Panjab University, Chandigarh and Mr. Mahindru, Computer Centre, Panjab University, Chandigarh for their persistent support.

I am very grateful to the Head and Third Region Administration Offices of Education in Kermanshah, Iran and personnel of schools who allowed me to collect data. Their trust in me and the time they invested in helping with several logistical difficulties have been invaluable to me.
I am also grateful to the parents and children who participated in this study. Parents allowance, contribution and presence and children's enthusiasm made me strong and eager to get through the research phases.

I would like to acknowledge the immense support that I received from my family. I would like to thank Jalal, (my husband), for being unlimited source of love and for having been present, demanding and supportive all along the process. I would like to thank my parents who have been present for my baby and I, especially during the executive process with their tireless support.

I would like to express my special indebtedness to my niece Sara, my sister Kafieh and friends whose continuous encouragement and support was unremitting source of inspiration for this work.

Ultimately, I am deeply thankful to my little daughter Arina, for her company and patience during the past years it has taken me to graduate.

I thank the Almighty for blessing me with such nice people in life and for making me successful in my endeavor.

\[\text{Nasrin Jaberghaderi}\]