

LIST OF FIGURES

Figure No.	Title of the Figure	Page No.
1.1	Customer Satisfaction Levels	8
1.2	Deriving Customer satisfaction	9
1.3	Kano's Customer Satisfaction Model (1984)	10
1.4	Zeithmal, Berry, Parsuraman Gap Model (1988)	31
3.1	Process followed for Questionnaire Administration	97
4.1	Flow Chart of Presentation of Findings	105
4.2	Age Profile of the Respondent Customers	106
4.3	Gender of Respondent Customers	107
4.4	Educational Qualification of Respondent Customers	108
4.5	Monthly Family Income of Respondent Customers	109
4.6	Marital Status of Respondent Customers	109
4.7	Occupation of Respondent Customers	110
4.8	Mean & Standard Deviation Scores of Respondent Customers on Various Dimensions of Service Quality	114
4.9	Age profile of Respondent Employees	117
4.10	Gender of Respondent Employees	118
4.11	Educational Qualification of Respondent Employees	119
4.12	Monthly Family Income of Respondent Employees	119
4.13	Marital Status of Respondent Employees	120
4.14	Mean Score and Standard Deviation of Various Dimensions of Service Quality in Internet Banking As Perceived By Employees	124
4.15	Mean Scores Respondent Customers & Employees on Various Dimensions of Service Quality	130

4.16	Comparison of Mean Scores between Customers and Employees on The Basis of Tangibility Dimension	132
4.17	Comparison of mean scores between customers and employees on the basis of reliability dimension	133
4.18	Comparison of Mean Scores between Customers and Employees on The Basis of Responsiveness Dimension	134
4.19	Comparison of mean scores between customers and employees on the basis of assurance dimension	135
4.20	Comparison of Mean Scores between Customers and Employees on The Basis of Empathy Dimension	136
4.21	Comparison of Mean Scores between Customers and Employees on The Basis of Overall Satisfaction	137
4.22	Correlation between Overall Customer Satisfaction and different Dimensions of Service Quality	139
4.23	Contribution of Each Variable towards Overall Satisfaction of Customers with Internet Banking Services	141
4.24	Correlation between Overall Satisfaction and Different Components of Service Quality	142
4.25	Contribution of each Variable towards Overall Satisfaction of Employees with Internet Banking Services	144