ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It has been my cherished privilege to work under the supervision of Dr. (Miss) Sudesh Gakhar, Reader, Department of Education, and Dr. (Mrs.) Vidhu Mohan, Chairman, Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh. I express my heart-felt gratitude to them for their inspiration, painstaking efforts, and scholarly guidance placed at my disposal ungrudgingly. I am highly indebted to them for allowing me to draw upon their valuable time and kindness and affection with which I was treated in the execution of my research work.

I feel highly grateful to Prof. E. Paul Torrance, Head, Department of Educational Psychology, University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia who sent me the reprints of his papers which went a long way considerably in this research work.

I am indeed very much indebted to Dr. H.C. Sharma, Government College of Education, Chandigarh, and Dr. (Mrs.) Nirmala Agarwal, EVG Unit, NCERT, New Delhi, for their moral support.

I offer my sincere thanks to Dr. Jitendra Mohan, Department of Psychology and Prof. J.N. Joshi, Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for their critical suggestions.
A grateful acknowledgement is also made to Dr. C.M. Bahl, Incharge, Computer Centre, Panjab University, Chandigarh; the staff-members at Regional Computer Centre, Sector-17, Chandigarh, for their cooperation in the computation of work.

I wish to thank ICSSR (North-Western Region), Panjab University, Chandigarh for their financial assistance by sanctioning me the short study grant to complete this research work.

I also acknowledge the cooperation extended to me by the Principals and students of various schools in the collection of data for this study.

While developing on this thesis I acquired a constant deep appreciation, and boosting support of Dr. (Miss) Pam Rajput, Department of Political Science, Panjab University, Chandigarh, to whom I wish to tender my heart-felt thanks.

The love and affection bestowed on me by Shri Ajaib Singh (Retd. PES) and the members of his family in cherishing my dream into reality can hardly be forgotten.

I express my sincere thanks to Shri B.P. Saxena and L.B. Saxena for going through the manuscript critically.
Without the enthusiastic love and encouragement of my parents, brothers and sisters, I could not have even imagined to begin this research work. I am immensely indebted to them to bear the sacrifice of togetherness while I was busy in writing this thesis.

Finally, to my sincere friend Miss Tejinder Bir Kaur 'Lilly' for whom my thanks are beyond repayment.
