Words are too feeble a medium to express my sincere feelings of gratitude for my esteemed supervisors Dr. Anand Bhushan and Dr. (Mrs.) Malwinder Ahuja, Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh. I feel a deep sense of gratitude for Dr. (Mrs.) Malwinder Ahuja (Reader), Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for her inspiration, guidance and constant feedback for this study. I am highly indebted to her for encouragement, support coupled with constructive criticism and her valuable time throughout the development and completion of this project. Thank you so much, Ma’am for understanding the practical problems of being a woman.

I am also extremely grateful to respected Sir, Dr. Anand Bhushan for his priceless advice now and then, which kept on boosting me to walk steadily towards the attainment of my goal.

I am grateful for the inspiration and wisdom of many thinkers and researchers for the transgenerational sources and roots of wisdom. I grateful acknowledge their valuable thoughts and works, which became cementing propositions in the present investigation.

I extend a note of thanks to the administrators, teachers and students whose immense cooperation for this investigation enables me to conduct my experiment and write this dissertation.

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to the Library staff of A.C. Joshi Library, Panjab University, Chandigarh and Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh who helped me in arranging the books from time to time.
I owe a never ending sense of gratitude, love and respect to my dear husband, Manuj Ashwini, without whose constant assistance and cooperation this thesis could never have been completed. I am grateful to him for his encouragement and patience in seeing me complete this thesis.

I would also thank my eight months old son, Abhi, for his being cooperative and considerate for feeling contented when I deprived him of mothers affection entrusting him to other’s lap. My son have been my driving force throughout, who allowed me to concentrate on my project amidst his tears and laughter. Thank you so much.

I am very thankful to my parents and elder sister Sujata for taking care of my child so lovingly during my endeavour of achieving this goal.

I shall be failing in my gratitude if I do not recognize the invigorating efforts made by my adorable Father-in-law, mother-in-law who provided conditions conducive to the completion of my work and showed immense patience in this respect. I also like to thanks my brother Diwakar and sister Nisha for constant encouragement and help. Their contribution is unmatched, unparalleled and indescribable. All the family members have been a constant source of inspiration in this venture.

Above all, I am thankful to Almighty for implanting me in this set-up where contribution of each of those mentioned above is invaluable and incomparable.
