ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Research is a very challenging and difficult venture considering the tremendous amount of inputs necessary for its completion. In case of present study, I feel language is incapable of giving full expression to my deep gratitude and admiration for my revered Supervisor Professor Harish Sharma, Chairman and Head of the Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for the able, illuminating and timely guidance, learned advice, wholehearted co-operation and his constructive criticisms of this research. In him, I experienced a rare combination of a profound scientist of human behaviour, sensitive and energetic teacher and an affectionate and considerate individual.

My deepest gratitude and heartfelt thanks are for my dear parents who have always been a source of inspiration and kept me in high spirits. I would not have been able to complete this research, which is dedicated to them, without their moral and material support and encouragement.

I am indebted to my brothers, Mr. Mehrdad and Mr. Afshin for their support and inspiration.

I am thankful to the members of the teaching staff of the Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh for their kind and helpful assistance and guidance during the course of this investigation.

Besides, I am highly thankful to the various principals and administrators of Kerman City (Iran) who have helped me in the collection of data as the subjects and by providing valuable information and comments. They are too numerous to be listed individually.

I further gratefully acknowledge the help which I have received from various authors, publishers, and other educationists and psychologists whose studies have been consulted during the problem in hand.

I owe a lot to many friends and others who helped me directly or indirectly in my research, and who will always remain unnamed. Still I hope they will understand and accept my sincere thanks. Last but not the least, I express my sincere thanks to Mr. Raj Kumar/Arya Printographics for co-operation and printing of this work.

If others remain unnamed, I can only plead in extenuation in Keatsian vein

"Uttered names are sweet,
But those unuttered are sweeter."
