ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This research work is a collective endeavour of many people, without whose support and cooperation, this would not have turned into a tangible reality. A dedicated research work cannot be a matter of few days or weeks but a continuous effort for months and years. This research work saw the light of the day in the form of a thesis through contribution of many people. I have been fortunate to have met and worked with those people without whose guidance and support this work would not have been possible. I take this opportunity to acknowledge all of them who turned this effort into a fruitful reality.

First and foremost, I would love to thank almighty God for always showering his blessings on my family and me and giving me patience, courage, strength and resources to go ahead throughout my entire life.

I would like to express my deep and sincere gratitude to my Ph.D research supervisor Dr. Kewal Krishan, Senior Assistant Professor, Department of Anthropology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for his guidance, patience, wise advices, orientation, ideas and suggestions given to me to successfully complete this thesis. He has helped me in the research to the extreme of his ability and has understood the situations all the time. I feel proud in working under his supervision. His expertise in the area and enthusiasm in the research have been of great value for me. His guidance helped me to understand the overall concept of forensic anthropology.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr. A.K. Sinha, Professor and Chairperson, Department of Anthropology, Panjab University, Chandigarh for providing me necessary facilities and giving encouragement to undertake this research.

I am extremely grateful to Dr. Abhik Ghosh, Associate Professor, who always devoted his precious time for advising me with perfect approach for assessing the thesis at every phase and putting me on to the right track. I thank him for his enthusiasm, motivation and sharing the ideas throughout my research work.
My sincere thanks to all the faculty members of Department of Anthropology, especially, Dr. R.K. Pathak, Professor, for their constant encouragement, moral support and valuable suggestions during my research work.

I would like to thank the entire office staff and librarian of the Department of Anthropology for their kind help and cooperation, whenever I needed it, in completing the thesis.

I am indebted to Mr. Anadi Kumar Vasudeva, SI, Grade II, Census office, Chandigarh for his invaluable help and providing me the details of Chandigarh census. I am thankful to Mr. Rakesh Mohindra and Mr. Saroj Kumar Rana who helped me in statistical analysis of the data of present study.

I would like to give special and heartiest thanks to Khushbu and my brothers Chander Pal, Inder Pal, Aman Pal who played major role during my research. Their continuous help and support during my field work cannot be expressed in words. It was their delightful company which helped me to stand up and face the obstacles occurred during the field work. Motivation given by them helped me to give my best even after failure in the field.

I also wish to extend my thanks to Anju, Bindu, Geeta, Krishna Bua, Parveen, Sarita and my subjects- Amrik uncle, Arun, Ashok, Awdhesh, Charanjit, Gudiya, Kavita, Lalita chachi, Mahipal uncle, Manjeet, Mintu, Mukesh aunti, Nirmal, Rahul, Ramesho aunty, Ravi, Shashi bhabhi, Sunny 1, Sunny 2, Susheela bhabhi, Vikas, for helping me in data collection.

I wholeheartedly thank all the subjects who graciously and kindly lent their precious time to conduct the present research work. Voluntary participation and cooperation of the subjects during this laborious and time-consuming data collection was great help for me.

I wish to extend special acknowledgement to Dr. Michelle Marizan Roelofse, whose study conducted on African males gave me an idea to conduct the present study.
I am, especially, grateful to my friend Dr. Gurinder Kaur. She was a source of motivation for me throughout my research. Her experience and wisdom always influenced my work in a good manner. I would also like to thank my friends Shruti Chopra and Baljeet Singh Bali for their ideas and support. Three of them always used to have discussion with me regarding my research work and gave me many valuable suggestions and thoughtful reviews. Whenever I needed them, they were one-phone-call away from me at any time. They worried a lot about me and continuously kept asking situation of my research work. I will never forget their love and support throughout my life. I feel so lucky to have such sweet and great friends in my life. May god bless them!

I am also thankful to Anu Gupta, Avni Khatri, Bahadur Singh, Chakraverti Mahajan, Dinesh Sharma, Gagandeep Singh, Lakshmi Yadav (di), Mamta Verma (bhabhi), Nitin Mandla, Preetika Mishra, Sapam Ranabir, Reza Eghdami, Richa Aeri, Rohit Kumar, Sandeep Kaur, Sarabjit Singh, Shruti Jain, Smriti Batoye, Sukhbir Singh, Sumit Goyal, Vijay Kumar Bodh for their moral support and motivation.

Last but not least, I wish to thank my papa, Sh. Shiri Ram, and mummy, Mrs. Shyamkala Devi, for their unwavering and unquestioning support, tolerance and never-ending encouragement throughout my life and particularly through the course of this research. I would like to dedicate this thesis to my parents and my brothers. Without them, I doubt I would have been successful in my research work. Their prayers, love, support, encouragement and understanding have been monumental during the course of my education.

I am indebted and thankful to everyone who directly or indirectly helped me during my research work.

Neelam