ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

An award of a research fellowship in the name of Poet Savarirayalu Nayakkar was granted to me for two years 1990-1992 by the Pondicherry Government through Professor Dr.K.S.Mathew, Department of History, Pondicherry University which enabled me to pursue my research on the society and economy of the French colonies with special reference to Pondicherry in the seventeenth and the eighteenth centuries. Later, the cultural section of French Embassy in India, Delhi, sanctioned a grant for six months through C.I.E.S. Paris, in 1995 with to and fro air ticket and maintenance to work in the various archives and libraries in France and London for the collection of original data. I place on record my indebtedness to Pondicherry Government for the award of Poet Savarirayalu Nayakkar Fellowship and to the French Government for the award of research grant through its mission in India.

My sincere thanks and gratitude goes to Dr.K.S.Mathew my guide and supervisor for his constant encouragement and guidance which enabled me to undertake a research of this nature. During these years he has been a source of inspiration in the several discussions that I had with him. It is because of his continuous request to the French embassy that I was given a grant for six months to go to France. He had opened his personal library for my reference. He has patiently gone through my draft and finalised it.

My thanks are due to the teachers of Alliance Francaise Pondicherry for teaching me the French language to gain working knowledge of the French sources.

My association with Dr. B. Krishnamurthy, Lecturer in the School of International Studies, Pondicherry University who spent his time by way of several intellectual discussions about my topic enabled me to speed up the work. As a scholar in Indo-French history, he has generously lent his source material, helped me in reading through my work giving his valuable suggestions and had always encouraged me to continue my research.

My thanks are due to my congregation --- the Sisters of the Cross of Chavanod, France, and my then and present provincial Sr. Evangeline Mordon, for permitting me to undertake research in Pondicherry University. I also thank Sr. Genevieve Mani, General Counsellor, Sr. Humbeline, my superior and correspondent of the college and Sr. John Marie, Vice-Principal Holy Cross College, Tiruchy. The government of Tamil Nadu permitted me to take two years leave from my teaching to avail myself of the award of Poet Savarirayalu Nayakar fellowship. And further six months to work in the European archives. I express my sincere thanks to the authorities of the Holy Cross College for getting my leave sanctioned. I owe a lot to my Superior General Sr. Christiane Moran, France, who made all the arrangements for my stay in France and London. My thanks go to Sr. Muriel, Paris who was very helpful during my stay at Picpus, community in Paris.

My study during these years was done with the co-operation of the staff of various archives and libraries. In France the Director, National Archives, Paris, helped me by providing the necessary MicroFilms for the French colonies in India for the period under review for nearly three months. Besides, the officials at National Library, Paris, Archives d'outre-Mer, Aix-en-Provence, British Museum, India office Library London, furnished the necessary facilities for my study. I owe my special thanks to them.

In India, the staff of National Archives, Delhi, gave me access to French Manuscripts and French Nouvell Acquisitions in the form of MicroFilms. I am highly obliged to the staff of French Institute Pondicherry, Romain Rollan Library, Ecole Francaise d'Extreme Orient, Pondicherry and the Jesuit Archives at Shenbaganur, Kodaikanal.
There are a number of religious institutions which gave me accommodation during my research in India and in Europe. I particularly remember the congregation of St. Joseph of Cluny, Pondicherry for accommodating me right from 1990’s. My thanks are due to the sisters Sr. Suzan, Sr. Bernadette, Sr. Raphael and Sr. Marcell. I wish to thank the sisters at Maison St. Thomas des Villeneuve Aix-En-Provence, France for providing me hostel facility during my stay at Aix.

I received valuable information and timely help from eminent professors whom I contacted during my research programme both in India and France. Dr. Ajit Neogy Shantiniketan, India, Dr. Emmanuel Divien, Madras, Mme. Vasundara Filliozat, France, Dr. Jacques Pouchepadass, former Director of French Institute, Pondicherry (at present in France), Dr. Jacques Weber, Professor of History -- University of Nante, France, Dr. Jean Deloche, Ecole Francaise d’Extreme Orient, Pondicherry, Mr. Raja Ram, Museum curator, Pondicherry government and Ernestine Carreira, Universite de Provence, Department des Etudes Portugaises, Aix-En-Provence. I owe a lot to the Directress of C.I.E.S. Mme. Corlobe for her concern shown towards me during my stay in France. A special thanks to Dr. Claude Markovit, (Centre D’Etudes De L’Inde Et De L’Aste Du Sud, 54, Boulevard Raspail, Paris) for being my supervisor during my stay in France and at the same time furnished me with all the necessary letters to visit the various archives and libraries in France and London. I also thank for the comments and suggestion that I had received from him for my research. My association with Fr. Francis M. Peter, SJ. Principal St. Xaviers College, Palayamkottai, Fr. Ananand Amaladoss, S.J. Director Satya Nilayam, Madras, Fr. Joseph Maria Christy S.J. Research Scholar USA, Fr. Raja SJ, St. Paul's Seminary Tiruchy, Fr. Joe Lawrence S.J. Headmaster, St. Joseph's Boys Hr. Sec. School, Tiruchy and Manickam was rewarding.

My thanks are due to Miss Tara and Usha Lecturers, English Department, Holy Cross College, Trichy, for reading through my draft and correcting them and also for Sr. Mesmin Corera, M.A. French, Librarian, Holy Cross College, Nagercoil, Madam Dennise Baptiste, France and Miss. Sheela Puri M.A. French for having helped me in interpreting the French documents.

I acknowledge with thankfulness the help and cooperation received from Dr. Visvanath, Reader and Head of the Department, Pondicherry University and the other members of the staff. I thank Mr. Sivasubramaniam, Librarian, Department of History, Pondicherry University for his assistance in the Department Library.
I express my thanks to Vaithianathan and Karthik - Bright Dataprocessing, Muthialpet for patiently computerising my thesis with a sense of dedication.

Above all, I give thanks to the Almighty for his constant care over my life during the period of research and for his choicest blessings.
