ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is with sense of legitimate pride that I present this collection of data and facts in the form of a thesis. I feel my self greatly honoured and elevated to have worked under the enlightened guidance of luminaries of educational interest as well as literary and academic calibre.

I have the privilege of completing this project under the joint supervision of Dr. Raghunath Safaya, Principal, Government College of Education, Chandigarh and Dr. (Mrs.) Pratibha Deo, Professor & Head, Department of Education, Bombay University, Bombay. I owe a debt of gratitude to them for their ungrudging and remarkably insightful guidance, as and when I needed. Their professional acumen and pains-taking efforts have immensely contributed to my training as a researcher as also to improve the quality of the thesis.

My hearty thanks are due to Dr. J.N. Joshi, Professor & Head, Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh, who has been a great source of inspiration to me in the completion of this research piece.

I am deeply indebted to Dr. S.S. Mathur and Dr. (Mrs.) B.K. Saini, Readers, Department of Education.
Panjab University, Chandigarh, for their time to time, valuable suggestions and sincere advice in clearing my doubts and confusions. Under their esteemed inspiration, I have been able to carry out the investigation with confidence.

I am indebted to the principals and the senior teachers of various schools of Chandigarh for acting as judges in this study and giving me very useful suggestions in the construction of Teacher Rating Scales.

My thanks are also due to all the heads of institutions for permitting me to collect data from their schools.

I pay my respectful thanks to all the heads, teachers and students of various schools of Chandigarh, who willingly offered to become subjects for this study, sparing ample time from their busy schedules, and who offered me all possible help and co-operation in proceeding with this work.

I wish to express my appreciation to the many authors whose works I consulted very often and quoted in my research report.

I will be failing in my duty if I do not show my indebtedness to all those researchers whose works not only had inspired me to work in this direction but also provided useful hints which gave me a clear line of action.

I highly value the words of encouragement and help from my relatives, friends and colleagues, which motivated me to sustain efforts and accelerated the pace of my research work.

My special thanks are due to my younger sister, Satnam, who untiringly helped me in sorting the response sheets and checking the raw data.

Last, but not the least, I am thankful to my wife who has been a source of constant inspiration and encouragement to me. I might not have been able to present this piece of research but for her sincere co-operation, benign assistance and sweet words.

M. L. Sharma.

October 19, 1977. (M. L. Sharma)

Department of Education,
Panjab University,
CHANDIGARH
(INDIA)