ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I take this great opportunity to express my sincerest regards and heartfelt gratitude to my esteemed supervisor, Prof. I. V. Malhan, former Head of DLIS, University of Jammu, presently, Dean of School of Mathematics, Computers & Information Sciences, Central University of Himachal Pradesh, for all of his guidance, invaluable advice, encouragement, support and the patience by which he has shared my dilemmas at every step of my research. I owe my career to his enthusiasm for research as well as his diligent efforts to let me experience the potential applications in the field of Library and Information Science. I feel indebted for his able and active guidance without which this work would have not been possible. Despite his busy schedule he graciously rendered all the guidance and the encouragement when and where needed. He has a constant source of knowledge, inspiration and moral support to me.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to my co-supervisor Prof. Sangita Gupta, Prof. and Head P. G. Department of Library Science, University of Jammu whose valuable guidance, steadfast support, intellectual ingenuity, continuous encouragement, wonderful mentorship and avid suggestions have made this work a reality. I would like to acknowledge her contribution and support for enabling me to complete the present research work. This thesis would not have been a reality without her kind co-operation and constant encouragement.

In addition, I would like to thank all the Heads/Chairmen, teachers and students of the LIS Schools in North India for their kind help, support and valuable guidance in data collection. I am highly thankful to all my colleagues, friends, scholars and staffs of LIS Schools in Northern Indian Universities/Institutes for providing me all sort of help as and when needed. I would like to thank Dr. Meghana Dhar, Mr. Pramod Kumar Singh, Assistant Professor, Scholars and all staff members at Department of Library and Information Science, University of Jammu, for providing all possible support and full cooperation during the entire study.

I would like to thank my grandfather and also thank to my grandmother who is no more but her guidance and emotional support always help me in path of my life and she was the constant support throughout my entire academic career. I would like to thank my respected parents, Sh. Khyali Ram and Smt. Kamla Devi and my in-laws Sh. Ram Rakha and Smt. Gianwati for their love, affection, invaluable and constant support throughout my study. I simply cannot imagine where I would have been without their help rendered so selflessly. I am grateful to my brother Dr. Vijay Kumar Bharti, his wife Dr. Ansu Raj, daughter Kinjal and all my relatives who, directly or indirectly, provided valuable support to me.

I am indebted to my life partner Mrs. Sarita, my son Divyam and daughter Iva who supported me in the completion of my thesis with full patience and endearment. They have always been there for me with their unending love and support and I will always be thankful. Their consistent, strong belief in my ability instilled in me the self-confidence and great motivation to achieve success. It will be a grave omission if I do not expression my honest gratitude to my great grandmother, her sacrifices for me are unforgettable although she is not between us today but her blessings always inspired me and given meaning to my existence and identity. Without her blessings it was impossible to achieve such great achievements in my life.

Most of all, I am grateful to God for blessings and grace to accomplished this work and provided the necessary courage and health during this period of stress and hard work!
