ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I take this rare opportunity to express my heartfelt gratitude to my guide Professor Ashvini Agrawal, former Dean, Faculty of Arts, Panjab University, and former Chairman, Dept. of Ancient Indian History, Culture & Archaeology, for his inspiring guidance, sustained encouragement, constructive criticism, invaluable feedback, guidance during the time of field work in remote and tough areas of Himachal Pradesh, and simulating discussions on various aspects of the study which was carried out. I feel privileged to have worked under him.

I express my deep gratitude to Prof. N.K. Ojha, Chairman, Dept. of Ancient Indian History, Culture & Archaeology, P.U., Chandigarh, who always inspired and encouraged me during the course of my research. I would also like to thank all the members of teaching faculty and the office staff of the Dept. for their help and cooperation from time to time.

Shri R.C. Agrawala, former Director, Archaeology and Museums, Rajasthan, Jaipur, and Prof. Devendra Handa, former Chairman, Dept. of Ancient Indian History, Culture & Archaeology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, not only encouraged me during the course of my study but were also kind enough to provide me some off-prints of papers and other material. I am deeply indebted to them.

Professor B.K. Kathil, Chairman, Ancient Indian History, Culture & Archaeology, Kurukshetra University, was generous enough to provide me help in the form of discussion and references during the course of my research. I am also thankful to Sh. C. Dorje, Director, Archaeological Survey of India, New Delhi, who took pains to provide me with some of the finest visuals of Markulā Devī temple of Udaipur, during research period. My friend Ms. Menka a Junior Archaeologist with Archaeological Survey of India, New Delhi, sent me valuable information and material from Delhi which I gratefully acknowledge.

My field work would not have been completed in time if it wasn’t for Shri R.K. Jariyan, Superintendent Engineer, and Mr. Kuldeep Rao, Executive Engineer who arranged for my accommodation at numerous places during the course of my field work. I am grateful to the Indian Historical Research Council, New Delhi for providing me with a fellowship, that helped lessen my financial burden during the course of my research.

It is because of the blessings, love and persistent support from my parents, Shri Ishwar Dass Chhawaroo, Smt. Kushma Rithwan, Smt. Asha Rithwan that I have been able to achieve, whatever I am in life. My entire family has been really supportive especially my brother, Shri Vikram Rithwan, my bhabhi ji, Poonam Rithwan and my sisters, Rinku, Pinky and Dimpy, all have extended their instinct support during the period of my research. Their love and affection cannot be expressed in simple words. I acknowledge my fiancée Annie, who helped me in collecting data from Himachal Pradesh University library, Shimla.

I express my heartfelt gratitude to my mother like Achla aunti for her support, guidance and motherly love at every stage of my research.
Academic life without friends is a distant reality, so, I would like to thank my friends Dr. Deepak S. Rawat, Kshitij, Vinay, Rohit and Janamejay. I am highly grateful to Shri Krishan Singh Bist ji, who shared my burden by typing the thesis in a meticulous manner at a very short notice.
