ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

At the very outset I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to my esteemed guides, Professor J.C. Sharma (Department of Anthropology, Punjab University, Chandigarh) and Professor S.L. Sharma (Department of Sociology, Punjab University, Chandigarh) for their unfailing guidance and invaluable supervision throughout the course of my Ph.D. work and for encouraging, inspiring and enabling me to submit this thesis for the award of Ph.D. Degree. But for their expert advice, critical appreciation and helpful criticism, the thesis would not have taken the present shape.

I am also indebted to my teacher, Professor S.R.K. Chopra, of the Department of Anthropology, Punjab University, Chandigarh for his encouragement.

My respondents of this study - the Gaddis - deserve a very warm thanks for their unstinted cooperation and boundless native hospitality in the field, especially Shri Thakur Singh, MLA (Bharmour Constituency) who welcomed whole heartedly the objectives of the study and enthused me to gather all the data I required for it.
The acknowledgements will remain incomplete without expression of my heart-felt gratitude to Shri S. Negi, Deputy Commissioner, Chamba; Shri R.C. Dogra, Deputy Commissioner, Kangra; Shri Nikasi, District Education Officer, Chamba and Shri B.D. Mehta, District Education Officer, Kangra for according all the necessary help I required in the field from them and their staff.

Thanks are also due to Shri Atma Ram, Asstt. Branch Manager and Shri Vipin Kumar Awasthi, Development Officer, LIC, Chamba for my comfortable stay in Chamba during my field work; Shri Lachhman Dass Kapoor, Pradhan, Gram Panchayat, Bharmour; and Shri Dina Nath, President, Gaddi Association, Kangra and Chamba, for my stay during my field work at Bharmour; and Shri Kishori Lal Awasthi (Village Narwana) and Shri N.L. Abhilashi (Dharamsala Town) for accommodating me during my field work in Kangra district.

Thanks are also due to the staff members of the Departments of Anthropology and Sociology, Punjab University, Chandigarh for their keen interest in my work.

To my family members I am eternally grateful for not only bearing with me through all these years and forgiving me for my neglect of their due rights and interests but also for saying "bravo", when my spirits wearied or tedium seemed to be overtaking me.
I have drawn heavily from the works of the various authors on the subjects. My authorship of this thesis is, in fact, but a collective symbol of the totality of their wisdom, intellect and pioneering works in the field.

I also thank the library staff of the Punjab University, Chandigarh and the N.C.E.R.T., New Delhi, for making available to me all the literature I required without demour or delay.

Last but not least, I thank my typist, Rakesh for his flawless typing of the thesis presented herewith.

Bhaveshwar Parshad Awasthi