Acknowledgements

It’s been more than a decade in this department and it is full of experiences I have encountered here from dozens of remarkable individuals. It is a pleasant task to express my thanks to all those who contributed in many ways to the success of this study and made it an unforgettable experience for me.

First and foremost I wish to thank my advisor, Prof. S. K. Mehta, Head of the Chemistry Department. He has been supportive since the days I began working and guided me at every stage during this period. I would not have been able to do the research and achieve learning in the same manner without his help and support. His recommendations and instructions have been very helpful. I have been extremely lucky to have a supervisor who cared so much about my work.

I would also like to thank Prof. Michael Gradzielski for the many valuable discussions that helped me understand my research area better. I benefited greatly from fruitful discussions with Dr. Cristina Giordano. Their consistent guidance, support and unparalleled knowledge encouraged me to proceed with the work in Technische Universität, Berlin. Prof. Makoto Aratono was also very supporting during the visit to Kyushu University, Japan.

I am thankful to Dr. G. R. Chaudhary, Dr Gurpreet, Dr. Savita and Dr. Khushi. Special thanks for Dr. Rishu for always encouraging me.

The synthesis in Berlin would not have been possible without Prof. Reinhard Schomäcker and Astrid Müller-Klauke. I am thankful to Mr. Sandeep, Mr. Dinesh, Jana and Michaela who helped in carrying out experiments in instrumentation laboratory. Er. Sören Selve shared his knowledge about TEM and EDX during the experiments in Berlin and simplified the interpretation of results. A special thanks goes to Christiane Abu-Hani for providing information and arranging things in Berlin.

I praise God, the Almighty for providing me this opportunity and granting me the capability to proceed successfully. I would like to thank my family for their unconditional support throughout my degree. In particular, the patience and understanding shown by my mum and papa during the years is greatly appreciated. For this and much more, I am forever in their debt.

I wish to acknowledge a friendship that began here and became ripe throughout years in this place. This is the time to thank Ravneet and Neha for helping me get through the difficult times, and for all the emotional support, camaraderie, entertainment, and caring they provided. They both have been wonderful friends.
