ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to record my deep gratitude to my Supervisor, Dr. M.L. Raina, Ph.D. (Manchester), Professor and Head, Department of English, University of Poona, Pune, for the sustained encouragement and invaluable guidance during the course of my work. Indeed, his perceptive and constructive criticism pervades my entire dissertation.

Special thanks are due to Miss Ines Verga, retired English teacher, Buenos Aires, who is among the earliest critics of Virginia Woolf to appreciate her aesthetic venture, for advice and inspiration. Her letters to me have enabled me to see my study in the right perspective.

Next, I am grateful to Mr. A.K. Paul, Lecturer in Art, College of Home Science, Haryana Agricultural University, Hisar, whose vast knowledge of the Post-Impressionist art really proved indispensable.

I also thankfully acknowledge the prompt and kindly assistance rendered to me by the Librarians and the library staff of the British Council, New Delhi, especially, Mrs. Mary Mody, Reference Librarian; National Museum, New Delhi; American Studies Research Centre, Hyderabad; Panjab University, Chandigarh; Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar; Himachal Pradesh University, Simla; and Haryana Agricultural University, Hisar, particularly Mr. V.B. Nanda and Mr. S.P. Goyal.

(Satya Pal)
KEY TO CITATIONS

The following Penguin Books editions/reprints of Virginia Woolf's novels have been used for citations in the text, though in the Bibliography original publishers and years of first publication have been mentioned:

- The Voyage Out, 1970
- Jacob's Room, 1973
- Mrs. Dalloway, 1969
- To the Lighthouse, 1974
- The Waves, 1973
- The Years, 1974
- Between the Acts, 1974

The pages cited have been specified within brackets.

Citations from Collected Essays, 4 Vols. refer to Chatto and Windus paperback editions/reprints, though original years of their publication have been given in the Bibliography.