Acknowledgements

It is my pleasure to thank the people who made this research work possible. At first I would like to express my gratitude to Prof. V. K. Jindal for his supervision, advice, and guidance from the embryonic stage of this research along with his extraordinary experiences throughout the work. I would like to specially mention his contributions in terms of his valuable time, ideas, and funding to make my Ph.D. experience productive and stimulating. Above all the moral support and encouragement was provided to me by Prof. Jindal.

I am grateful to my co-supervisor Dr. Hitesh Sharma for his advice, supervision, and crucial contribution, which made him the backbone of this research and so to this research work. His involvement along with his originality has triggered and nourished my intellectual maturity that will benefit me in future. With his enthusiasm, inspiration, and great efforts to explain things clearly and simply, he made physics cakewalk for me. His true scientific intuition has made him a constant oasis of ideas which exceptionally inspire me grow as a student, and a researcher. It has been an honor to be his first Ph.D. student.

I am thankful to Prof. Keya Dharamvir for her encouragement, insightful comments, queries and helping me to work with Prof. D. G. Kanhere at Pune University. My sincere thanks also goes to Prof. D. G. Kanhere, Pune University, for offering me the opportunity to work under his guidance and allowing me to work on exciting projects under him, related to my research field.

I would like to specially thank Dr. Harleen Dahiya for her valuable advice in writing my papers, using her precious times to read them and giving critical comments about them. This helped me a lot to publish my papers in reputed journals with minimal corrections. I am also benefited by advice and guidance from Dr. Mukul Kabir who always untiringly answered some of my unintelligent questions about simulations and computational codes.

I am thankful to the Chairman, Department of Physics, Panjab University for providing adequate facilities to work in the department.

It is my pleasure to pay special thanks to my lab colleagues for their unrelentless support throughout my research period. A special thanks goes to Isha for her advice and willingness to share her innovative thoughts with me, which were very fruitful for shaping up my research work. She always kept me updated with Departmental activities. I want to thank Kiran for sharing various thoughts during the Tea break. I convey special acknowledgement to Ali sir, Narinder di, Shuchi di, Shobhna mam, Veena mam and Priyanka di for their help. A special thanks to Sumali for doing all the administrative jobs for me in my absence while I was away for my family commitments. I am thankful to Pooja and Sheetal for creating a healthy environment in the lab. Special thanks to Supreet Pal Singh.

I am thankful to my in-laws, my Mom, Dad, who always encouraged me to carry out my work with perfection. Great thanks goes to Saurabh and Vishal, my brothers-in-law for their never ending help and support.
I am extraordinarily fortunate in having Gaurav as my life partner. I could never have embarked and completed all my work without his continuous guidance, support and encouragement. Whenever I lost faith in my capabilities, he was instrumental in uplifting my morale. His patience and co-operation is really appreciable. It is indeed my pleasure to thank my little son Aditya for his co-operation in the last stages of my Ph.D.. His smile is the biggest stress reliever and makes me forget all the worries.

This thesis would not have been possible unless my parents had supported me and motivated me to achieve my goal. My father discussed my research work with keen interest. My mother raised me with a love of science and supported me in all my pursuits, is really a moral character for me. My loving sisters Anu di, for discussing my problems and trying to find out best solutions for them. Pooja di for helping me to take my first step for research and Tamanna for sharing my ideas, encouraging me and had long phone discussions with me to improve my research work and skills, my brother Amit also made my stay in hostel very comfortable. I want to thank Lt. Col. Anuj Rampal, Anrnt uncle, Anita aunty and Krish for making my stay at Pune very comfortable and enjoyable.

Lastly the most important, I would like to thank GOD for providing me the abilities and giving me a chance to explore them in the best possible way.
