ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The researcher expresses his profound feelings of gratitude to Dr. S.S. Mathur, Department of Education, Punjab University, Chandigarh, for his very valuable guidance rendered to him in the completion of the study.

He owes a debt of gratitude to Professor V.R. Taneja, Head of the Education Department, Punjab University Chandigarh, as also to his learned colleagues Dr. (Mrs.) Pratibha Deo and Dr. J.N. Joshi for giving him their purposeful suggestions and making certain concepts clearer to him.

He is highly obliged to Dr. G.L. Bakshi, Director of Public Instruction, Punjab, Chandigarh for his erudite suggestions. He is highly grateful to Mr. L.D. Gupta, Director, State Institute of Education, Chandigarh who was always a great source of inspiration during the course of his study. Help rendered by Professor Arjan Singh Shante, Joint Director, Punjab Education Department and by his colleagues in the Education Department is also thankfully acknowledged. He is also thankful to the Block Education Officers, District Education Officers, Deputy District Education Officers, Circle Education Officers, Assistant Directors and Deputy Directors of Punjab Education Department for their very helpful cooperation.

The researcher is highly indebted to Mr. K.C. Gupta, Advisor, Economic and Statistical Department, Haryana, and his learned colleagues in his Department for their generous help in the completion of the study. The researcher can not fully express in words what he owes to Mr. Arya Mittar, Research Officer, Economic and Statistical Department Haryana for his all-out help in the completion of the research report.
Last but not the least, the researcher wishes to thank Sarvshri Parshotam Thakur, S.S. Gill, and S.K. Gupta the Research Officers of the Economic and Statistical Department, Punjab, the Librarians and staff of the State Institute of Education, Chandigarh and of the Punjab University Library who rendered great assistance in the completion of the study.

He would be failing in his duty if he does not thank wholeheartedly his wife Mrs. Santosh Kumari, Mr. R.K. Sharma, Mr. T.C. Rana and J.S. Guleria who did typing and editing of the thesis.

STATE INSTITUTE OF EDUCATION, CHANDIGARH.

Ram Sarup Sharma
M.A., M.Ed.