I submit myself at the Lotus feet of God, who has been taking care of me in my endeavors. I avail this excellent opportunity to express my sense of gratitude to my able, considerate and humanistic supervisor Dr.L.S.Vishwanath, who guided me intensely in the pursuit of research. Except for his farsightedness and encouragement, I would not have entered into the realm of research in urban history. I humbly acknowledge his efforts in introducing me to the much forgotten urban aspect of the history of Pondicherry. I cherish with gratitude the extensive discussions I had with him, and the suggestions he gave on socio-urban dynamics, which had important impact in developing the thesis. Besides, I remember with gratitude the critical support he gave me at the beginning stages and the good will expressed by him to go out of way to offer all solicitous co-operation towards the concluding phase of the thesis work. For all these and those I have not mentioned, I once again whole-heartedly thank him on the successful accomplishment of the thesis.

I express my deepest sense of gratitude to professor Dr.K.S.Mathew, who had ever been my source of inspiration, help and guidance, but for whom I would not have taken up the pursuit of research. Drawn by his academic excellence and reputation, I sat close to him to decide the structure of various chapters of my thesis. The material and method that he suggested during the discussion with him went a long way to build up the thesis. I enjoyed his individualized approach, which made him easily accessible and which was an important factor in carrying out my research. His cool temperament and protective spirit towards the students is a model of a teacher that I ever enshrine in my heart.

Subsequently, I endow my heart-felt thanks to all other academic and non-academic staff of the Department of History, Pondicherry University. Their unsparing and dedicated help contributed so well in facilitating my task.
I express my deepest sense of gratitude to Mr. Giri Shri Ramakrishnan and Mr. Venkata Subba Naikar, senior lecturers in French, who helped me in translating French sources.

I thank those scholars to whom I owe a good deal for helping me to concretize my work. Particularly I am indebted to former Justice Hon’ble Shri David Annuswamy, Mr. Pushpadoss, Mr. Pierre Pichard, Mr Cyril Antony and Mr. Sebastin, who induced and guided me to look into relevant source material of Pondicherry of the 17th and 18th Centuries to obtain a clear idea of the Pondicherry society. Hence, my achievement in the present work is the product as much of my own studies as of my interaction with these scholars of repute.

I extend my thanks to the librarians and other members of the staff of the National Archives of India-Pondicherry, The National Archives and Library, New Delhi; Indian Council of Historical Research, New Delhi, Indian Council of Social Sciences Research, New Delhi; Kendriya Sahitya Academy, New Delhi; Romain Rolland Library, Pondicherry; Institute de Francaise, Pondicherry and Pondicherry University Library, for permitting me to consult the necessary documents in their libraries and also making available their reprographic facilities.

I extend my thanks to Rev. Fr. A. J. Lawrence, Principal, Pope John Paul II College of Education, all my dear colleagues and Sr. Selva, who have always been the source of inspiration to me to pursue research.

My wife Amalorpava Mary and my two daughters Roseline and Cathrine, who have always stood by me, deserve all my gratitude. It is to them I owe all my success in life.

At the end, I wish to acknowledge the cooperation and help of all those, who well deserve my grateful thanks, I have forgotten to extend the same.

A.Madalai Muthu.
