This schedule consists of a number of pairs of statements about things that you may or may not like, about ways which you may or may not feel. Look at the example below:

A. I like to talk about myself to others.
B. I like to work towards some goal that I have set for myself.

Which of these two statements is more characteristic of what you like? If you like "talking about yourself to others" more than you like "working towards some goal that you have set for yourself", then you should choose A over B. If you like "working towards some goal that you have set for yourself" more than you like "talking about yourself to others", then you should choose B over A.

You may like both A and B. In this case, you would have to choose between the two and you should choose the one that you like better.

If you dislike both A and B, then you should choose the one that you dislike less.

Some of the pairs of statements in the schedule have to do with your likes, such as A and B above. Other pairs of statements have to do with how you feel. Look at the example below:

A. I feel depressed when I fail at something.
B. I feel nervous when giving a talk before a group.

Which of these two statements is more characteristic of how you feel? If "being depressed when you fail at something" is more characteristic of you than "being nervous when giving a talk before a group", then you should choose A over B. If B is more characteristic of you than A, then you should choose B over A.

If both statements describe how you feel, then you should choose the one which you think is more characteristic. If neither statement accurately describes how you feel, then you should choose the one which you consider to be less inaccurate.

Your choice in each instance, should be in terms of what you like and how you feel at the present time, and not in terms of what you think you should like or how you think you should feel. This...
There are no right or wrong answers, your choices should be a description of your own personal likes and feelings. Make a choice for every pair of statements; do not skip any.

The pairs of statements on the following pages are similar to the example given above. Read each pair of statements and tick mark ( ) the one statement that better describes what you like or how you feel.
