ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The writing of Ph.D. Thesis is usually a real herculean task strenuous and toilsome, occasionally exasperating, yet so alluring, so engrossing, so enchanting and so captivating that one comes to love the task despite all the sweat and toil one pours into its making. I present this thesis with liberal obligation to the under-mentioned with full acceptance of its limitations.

First of all I take this pleasant opportunity in expressing my deepest sense of gratitude to my esteemed supervisor, Dr. Rajan Gaur, Professor, Department of Anthropology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, under whose expert guidance the present work was conducted. I really extend my humble gratefulness and reverence to my respected supervisor from the core of my heart for his priceless help, timely advice, constant and meticulous guidance and supervision throughout the entire course of the present work. I feel honoured to have problems sorted out at various stages of work and during manuscript preparation by his immaculate and generous advice and help. I am eternally indebted and thankful to him for taking keen interest in my work which was the key role in completion of this present work.

I would like to express profound and sincere thanks to my worthy co-supervisor, Dr. R.N. Vashisht, Professor, Department of Anthropology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for his valuable guidance as co-supervisor for my Ph.D. work. I am extremely thankful to him for his encouragement throughout the present work. Much fruitful discussion with him proved to be of immense importance. His timeless help and motivation were key factors to complete this work.

I owe my profound indebtedness to Prof. K.D. Sharma, Chairperson and Prof. A.K. Sinha, officiating Chairperson, Department of Anthropology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for extending me all the possible facilities and cooperation throughout the entire course of accomplishment of this work.
I express my deepest sense of gratitude to Dr. R.K. Pathak, Professor, Department of Anthropology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for timely help, constant inspiration throughout the completion of the present work.

I am grateful to Dr. A.C. Nanda, (Retired Scientist) of Wadia Institute of Himalayan Geology for giving me the literature and valuable suggestions during the present work.

I am indebted to Dr. Rajeev Patnaik, Reader cum Museum Curator, Centre of Advance studies, Department of Geology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for providing me literature and invaluable guidance and suggestions during the entire course of work.

I owe my thanks to Dr. Taseer Hussain, Dr. Raymond Bernor, of Howard University, for their comments on the identification of the mammalian fossils.

I must acknowledge and appreciate the moral support and priceless help extended by Dr. Edwin and Dr. Aditi for their support and guidance in completion of this work.

I am thankful to my friends for their love and affection extended during the whole of this venture.

I also extend my thanks to the office staff of the Department of Anthropology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for providing me help and necessary facilities.

Finally, I express my high reverence to my loving and affectionate parents and lovable sisters for their sacred blessings during whole of this work.

Last, but not the least, I praise to 'Almighty' Shirdi ke Sai Baba (who is very kind and Merciful) who bestowed upon me the wisdom and strength to complete this work.

- Suresh Kumar