Words are not an adequate medium of communication for thanking my worthy guide, Dr. S.R. Mehta, Reader, Department of Sociology, Panjab University, Chandigarh. I got the unique benefit of many sessions of his lucid exposition, deep insight, stimulating inspiration and corrective criticism. It is not possible for me to re-pay the debt of his affection. But it is my intention to remain grateful to him forever.

I am grateful to Mr. A.L. Dutta, for his keen and abiding interest in this work and valuable suggestions. I have been benefitted by his suggestions. I also express my special thanks to Dr. R.S. Sandhu, Chairman and Mrs. Jasmeet Sandhu, Lecturer in Department of Sociology, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar for their constant encouragement and helpful suggestions.

I wish to express my gratefulness to Indian Council of Social Science Research, New Delhi as the fruition of this task has largely been brought about by their doctoral fellowship they awarded to me.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to all the respondents who denoted large chunks of their precious time in making this endeavour a success.
I would be failing in my duty if I do not express my most heartfelt gratitude to Mrs. Rita Garwari, Miss Santushta for their kind co-operation and timely help throughout the present work. Their friendship would be valued long after completion of this thesis and its vital importance could never be forgotten.

I would like to record my special thanks to my sister Miss Mini Kahlon for her kind and sincere co-operation. She took personal interest and accompanied me to different places at the time of data collection.

I am obliged to all those mighty pens whose books, articles were consulted.

My appreciations are due to S. Ujjagar Singh who took all the pains of typing this thesis.

Last but not least, I am thankful to God who has always give me courage, patience and inspirations.
