Acknowledgements

I would first like to acknowledge to my supervisors, Prof. R.C. Sobti, Vice-Chancellor, Panjab University, Chandigarh, India; Dr. Sanjay Kumar, Scientist, Biotechnology Division, Institute of Himalayan Bioresource Technology (CSIR) Palampur, India; Dr. Jagdeep Kaur, Associate Professor, Department of Biotechnology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, India for their guidance, support and encouragement during the development of this thesis. I am indebted to them for valuable advice, insightful comments and encouragement during my research work. I want to thank them for helping me to learn how to solve problems on my own and providing a supportive environment for my growth as researcher.

I am highly indebted to Dr. Paramvir Singh Ahuja, Director IHBT, for providing me the opportunity to work in this esteemed Institute with all the latest facilities, which any renowned laboratory would envy. I would like to thank him for keeping an eye on the progress of my work and also for many insightful advises on science and academic life in general.

My sincere thanks are due to Dr. Anil Sood, Head, Biotechnology Division, for his constant encouragement, suggestions and warm support. I would extend my sincere thanks to Dr. Arvind Gulati for the guidance and help extended during enrolment, registration and for the valuable advises and support. I am very grateful to Dr. S.K. Vats for useful discussions on research and other aspects. I would also like to sincerely thank Dr. Som Dutt for all helpful discussions, ideas and comments. I would also like to thank Dr. Kashmir Singh, Assistant Professor, Panjab University, Chandigarh for his suggestions, discussions and help during my PhD.

I would like to pay special thanks to Dr. Neeraj dilbaghi, Department of Bio- and Nano-technology, Guru Jambheshwer University of Science & Technology, Hisar, who have contributed significantly to my academic and professional education prior to my joining IHBT.

Special thanks to Arun Rana, Seva Singh and Anish for their help during the editing and printing of thesis.

Thanks to everybody at IHBT for the greetings and smiles, they always did wonder whenever I was in a pensive mood and revitalized me in taking on life as it comes. I am also thankful to Pushpender Sharma for his help during my visit to PU.

Sincere thanks are due to Digvijay Singh Naruka for the help extended in sequencing of the SSH library, procurement of all the chemicals and lab essentials required for the present study, help during printing of thesis and nice company. Thanks are also due to Pravin Naoghare for help regarding sequencing and all the happy moments. I would also like to say thank you to all the staff of our lab for the relentless efforts to keep lab in order while helping out with experiments. Warm thanks goes out to Balkishan, Manoj, Sanjeev, Deepak, Anupama, Kushal and Babloo for their relentless effort in assisting research scholars in their day to day work. A special thanks to Anupama and Deepak for help in isolation of plasmids from the subtractive library.

I would like to acknowledge Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) for all the fellowships and funding provided during the course of the work.

Finally, but most importantly thanks to my family for their never ending support over my entire educational career. Thanks to my Grand mother, father and mother for their advise, support and encouragement. Thanks to my father for his support both emotionally and financially. You voluntarily missed out on so many opportunities just to allow us, your children, to get the best education and future possible. You mean more to me than I could ever possibly express in words. Thanks for everything!

I am especially grateful for the endless encouragement and love from brothers Pankaj, Ashwani and sister-in-law Nitu. Thank you for sharing my responsibilities towards the family and all the invisible support.

Only feelings can express my thankfulness to my wife Nisha. It is your unconditional love, immeasurable support, patience and sacrifices that infused in me a special strength and balance. I would not have made it through without you.

I sincerely wish to thank all of the people, I incurred evan a belittle help during this period, if I have forgotten any body.

Pardeep Kumar
