Acknowledgement

First of all I bow in gratitude to the God Almighty for letting me live to see this day though I do not deserve it!

I can never repay the debt that I have of Dr. (Mrs.) Asha Chaudhry, Professor, Department of Zoology, Panjab University, Chandigarh (UT) and I thank God for giving me a research supervisor but for whose able guidance, ideas, faith, encouragement and optimism, this project would not have been complete. She inspired me to venture into the world of Environmental Toxicology and Molecular Genetics.

I am highly obliged to Prof. S K Tanja, Ex-Chairperson and Professor Emeritus, Prof. (Mrs.) T. Gill, Ex-Chairperson, Prof. Miridula Jain and Prof. Neelima R. Kumar Chairperson, Department of Zoology, Panjab University, Chandigarh for providing me with the necessary research facilities during the tenure of this research work, I am also grateful to Prof. R K Kohli Ex-Coordinator and Prof. A. S. Ahluwalia, Coordinator, Department of Environment and Vocational Studies, Panjab University, Chandigarh for their support and cooperation during my work.

Dr. S. Chaudhry, Retd. Professor and Chairperson, Department of Zoology, Panjab University, Chandigarh deserve special thanks as he had been a motivator and his blessings and expert advice helped me in every possible manner.

I would also like to thank the non-teaching staff of the Department of Zoology and Department of Environment and Vocational studies for their help during the laboratory work when they would gladly accede to my urgent and untimely calls, specially Mr. Kartar Singh, Mr. Ajmer Singh, Dr. V. P. Sharma, Mr. Kehar Singh and Mr. Sanjeet Verma of the Zoology Department and Mr. Jagdeesh, Mr. Rajinder, Mr. Lalit and Mr. S. S. Man Singh of the Department of Environment and Vocational Studies.

My special thanks are reserved for Mr. Navtej Singh, Micrographer, CIC, Panjab University, Chandigarh, without whose unconditional and unending support, it had not been possible for me to complete the photographic part of the thesis to my satisfaction.

It is said that a true friend is the one who is there during the worst of the times. I will never forget my friends Dr. Parul, Dr. Mamtesh, Dr. Sarabjeet Kaur, Mrs. Jaspreet Kaur, Mrs. Monika Airi, Ms. Mani Chopra, Dr. Rashmi Kohli, Dr. Monika Sharma and Dr. Lovleen for those good times spent together during many years of doctoral research work and for all of their suggestions.
My special thanks are reserved for my two colleagues Mrs. Taruna Kaura and Ms. Preeti Bhinder (SRF) for their valuable suggestions from time to time.

I extend my humble gratitude and debt to all my family members for their love and affection for which I fail to recall enough words of praise for their material, physical, emotional and spiritual support as and when required. I would like to acknowledge the contributions of my respected father-in-law Mr. Radhe Lal Gupta, mother-in-law Mrs. Chander Kanta Gupta, my brother-in-laws Mr. Manoj Gupta, Dr. Neeraj Gupta and Nikhil Gupta who were ardent supporters during the course of the present research work.

My thanks would be incomplete if I do not place on record my gratefulness to my respected father Mr. B. R. Bansal and mother Mrs. Nirmla Bansal whose ideals have always remained the guiding spirit in adverse circumstances. My younger brother Munish Bansal and my neighbours Mrs. Rani Sahota and Mr. Sulekh Sahota need special mention as their constant support and encouragement in difficult times kept me going through thick and thin.

Without the love and constant encouragement from my husband, Mr. Anuj Kumar Gupta, my thesis not have been complete. He has helped a lot during the final setting of the thesis and always stood by my side through this stressful time and constantly has provided words of encouragement. Last but not the least, I will always be indebted to my little angle Pehlu Gupta for all the smiles and patience she showed during long hours of my working on this project due to which she had to spend many moments without my loving care and her sacrifices can not be compensated by any means.
