I take this privilege to express my most sincere gratitude to my guide Dr. Rupinder Tewari (Professor), Department of Biotechnology, for his benign and unstinted guidance, which enabled me to complete the reported piece of work.

At the outset, I ventilate my deep sense of reverence and gratitude to my mentor, Dr. G. K. Khuller (Prof. & Head) Deptt. Of Biochemistry, PGIMER, Chandigarh who first initiated me to the subject of mycobacterial immunology and was singularly responsible for generating my interest to undertake this work. He is a treasure of creative ideas and his long experience in research, benevolent guidance, valuable criticism and constant encouragement have always remained a source of motivation for me.

I extend my sincere heartfelt thanks to Dr. Sanjay Chibber (Prof. & Chairman), Deptt. of Microbiology, Panjab University, Chandigarh for facilitating the academic and administrative aspects of this work.

I am extremely grateful to Dr. Indu Verma (Asst. Prof.), Deptt. of Biochemistry, PGIMER who left no stone unturned in seeing that the work reaches a point of perfection and helped in arranging this material in proper perspective with her coherent thinking. My affectionate thanks to the faculty members of the Deptt. who have been friendly, kind and supportive during my stay.
The periodical assessment of the work by the members of research Doctoral Committee is gratefully acknowledged.

This list is unending, yet incomplete if I don’t specifically acknowledge the help and moral support rendered to me by my special friends Mr. Anil, Dr. Suraj, Mr. Ashok, Mr. Harcharan, Mr. Deepak, Mr. Ajay and Ms. Yosman. I also acknowledge the constant help from my seniors and colleagues, Dr. Rakesh, Dr. Rajinder, Dr. Dayanand, Dr. Sumeet, Dr. Devinder, Ms. Manisha, Dr. Indu, Dr. Neena, Ms. Anjana, Mrs. Navneet, Ms. Querrat, Ms. Anu, Mr. Rauf, Mr. Pawan, Mr. Kashyap and Mr. E.Haq. I also thank my lab mates for creating a congenial atmosphere in the lab. Special thanks to Mrs. Lajya for her clerical assistance.

No work can suffice to express my gratitude for my parents and brother for their immense encouragement, understanding and moral support at every stage of my thesis and have long been a source of inspiration for me.

I owe my thanks to Dad’s Sans Graphics for pain staking efforts in presentation of this manuscript. The financial assistance provided by Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) New Delhi is highly acknowledged.

Anil Kumar Sharma