ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Any major project requires a lot of inspiration coupled with perspiration to make it a realization. This thesis was shaped into a reality by the nurturing guidance of a host of my teachers, near and dear. On completing my dissertation, I like to express my profound thanks to all those who have made this possible.

I begin by expressing my salutations to the Almighty and humble obeisance to the Lotus Feet of my Divine Master Dr. K Parvathi Kumar.

I would like to thank the following institutions / individuals whom I am ever indebted for:

Kuvempu University for having provided me the opportunity to pursue my research work.

Dr. Rajendra Chenni, M.A., Ph.D., Dean, Department of English, Kuvempu University for constant support, encouragement and expert advice during the course of my research work.

Dr. Rachel Bari, M.A., Ph.D, Chairperson, Department of Post Graduate Studies in English for her continual support.

D.V.S Research Center, Shimoga for providing me a chance to carry on my research through their center.

My beloved Professor and guide Dr. C.S. Nanjundaiah, M.A., Ph.D., with his commitment to work and incessant altruistic endeavors. As my thesis supervisor, he patiently instilled discipline in my writing, smoothing my awkward passages. He taught me never to overlook the obvious and ensure that I never slipped into sloppy work.

Principal of DVS College of Arts & Science Dr. B.M.Hosur for his timely support through and through.

The libraries of University of Mysore, Manasa Gangothri, Kuvempu University, Mangalorec University, Bangalore University, Library of MGM College, Udupi, Indian Institute of World Culture, Bangalore, City Central Library, Bangalore and Library of NMKRV College, Bangalore for permitting me to do reference work in their libraries.
Special thanks to Dhvanyaloka, Mysore for providing all the references on Achebe: Karanth Pratishana, Saligrama (DK) - Mrs. Malini Mallya for willingly providing all the reference material on Karanth.

Prof. M S Nagaraja Rao for permitting use of his personal library and ready help on innumerable occasions.

Dr. Madhava Bhat for his thought provoking guidance, informal support for sharing his in-depth knowledge, experience and providing reference material for my project.

Dr. Vijaya Kumar, my friend for his guidance and advice when the going got tough and my discussions with him were rewarding.

Dr. Vijayalakshmi, Principal, City College, Bangalore for her ready help, constant support and boosting my morale in myriad ways.

Mrs. Prabha U C, Ex Principal of RVV College and her family for their indebted support from the beginning in countless ways.

Mr. Namdev, Chief Librarian, City College, Bangalore who provided much needed support in file management of this work.

Mrs. Mangala, Librarian, City College, Bangalore who provided much needed ambience in the college library.

My siblings Raghu, Ramesh and their families who gave me the love and warmth to complete this arduous task. It is to their bubbling sense of joy and love that I made progress in the task.

My brothers-in-law Ramu, Murali and their families for their support and keen interest evinced in my project.

My sister-in-law Padmaja and her husband Dr. Prabhakara for presenting me the key guide for this project - the MLA Handbook.

My extended family members comprising of my aunts, uncles, nephews specially Yeshwant - my stress buster, nieces and cousins for their good natured forebearance.

Dr. Ravi for his timely medical attention in critical hours which ensured proper health during the course of my studies.
My friend Uma for her insightful comments and generous contribution of her time in combing my page proofs. My friend Sandhya who saw me through quite a lot of blues with her wacky sense of humour and unfailing optimism. Special thanks to my department colleague Kavitha for taking the brunt of work load in the college. Innumerable thanks to Dr. Lakshmi who previewed my work and provided valuable suggestions.

My friends Mukta, Beena, Surma, Vydehi, Girija and Arun who cheered me on and on from the beginning. All my other colleagues and Department Heads Mrs. Malini and Mrs. Sunita Watts who have directly and indirectly been a part of this work in various ways.

My friends Indu and Shantha Madam for their concerned quiries on my progress in the project.

My High School teacher R Aravind Kumar who planted the seed of perseverant working in me from my school days.

My “Guru Patnis” Sukanya and Savitha who saw to it that I never went hungry and gave me a home away from home.

Dr. Sathyanarayan, my friend, who stood the long hours of editing work and gave a form to this thesis: Ravi of Duro Binders for enwrapping my project in an elegant way: Sumathy Xerox for producing perfect pages of the project.

Mr Shankar of I – Connect has been the key person responsible for bringing this work to this state with persistent, patient and due diligent effort in editing, formatting, providing proofs, etc including mail support.

Special thanks to my young friend Bharath Bhushan for his smily help during my visits to Shimoga.

My peripheral family comprising of Parimala, Jayalakshmi and Yashodamma who took care of all my home and personal needs.

Eternal thanks to my late Mama and Mami for their special interest shown in me and my progress.

My diligent son Akshay was my role model and first critic at home, tolerated my cool kitchen days, my temper tantrums and made me concentrate on the work on hand when I wanted to do other things.
But the one person whose debt I shall eternally remain in is Amitha, my husband for more things than can be listed ever. This monograph is as much his as is mine.

My grateful thanks to all the staff of Kuvempu University including Mr. Vijay, Mrs. Padmalatha and Mrs. Sunanda of Department of English who have helped in various levels.
