ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In submitting this thesis, I express my sense of profound gratitude to my Research Guide, Dr. C.S. Nanjundaiah, Director, D.V.S Research Centre for English, D.V.S. College of Arts and Science, Shimoga, without whose whole-hearted help, positive encouragement and academic guidance this project would not have been successful.

My sincere regards to the UGC and the Government of Karnataka, particularly the Commissioner, Department of Collegiate Education for providing me an opportunity to undertake the research work under the FIP, during X plan period, without which the present project could not have been completed well in time.

Dr. Rajendra Chenni, Chairman, Post-Graduate Studies and Research in English, Kuvempu University, Shankarghatta, has given his whole-hearted support, encouragement and timely suggestions. I acknowledge his help and also the help of his office staff, with all sincerity.

I gratefully appreciate Prof. J.C. Hadimani, Principal, Government First Grade College, Shikaripur, for his encouragement and help that went a long way in the early completion of my project. My whole-hearted gratitude to all my colleagues and the non-teaching staff at Government First Grade College, Shikaripur, particularly Dr. Shekhar, Department of Sociology, Shri H. Somasekhar, Librarian and the members of the non-teaching staff.

I express my sincere gratitude to Prof. H.R. Nanjundappa, Principal (retired), Government First Grade College, Shikaripur and Dr. B.V. Vasanth Kumar, Department of Kannada, Maharani College, Mysore.
I duly thank Dr. B.M. Hosur, Principal, D.V.S. College of Arts and Science, for his kind co-operation in my research works. I’m deeply indebted to Prof. M.S. Nagaraj Rao, Prof. S. C. Gourishankar, Prof. Padmanab, Sri. Y. Shankarnarayan, the office superintendent and his staff, Sri. H.R. Devarajalah, the librarian and his staff. D.V.S. College of Arts and Science.

I ever remember Dr. Gayatri Devi Sajjan, Department of English, Sahyadri Science College, Shimoga, for her help and encouragement.

I owe a lot to my co-researcher Prof. B.M. Niranjan Murthy whose friendly company has eased much of my strains and hardships that had come in the way of my research activities. Interactions with him and his timely suggestions have helped a lot in the success of my project. I also thank another co-researcher Prof. Channappa for his kind company in our long discussions.

My deep sense of gratitude to Dr. Mutthaiah Kuganur Mutt, the Chief Librarian, JNU, Delhi and Shri. G. Kumarappa, the Librarian and the Information Officer, National Library Kolkata. Without their generous help my material collection would not have become so easier. Moreover, Shri. G. Kumarappa and his family deserve to have a special mention here for making it possible for me to meet and interact with Mahashweta Devi at her residence in Kolkatta. It would not have been possible for me to have two interviews with Mahashweta Devi without the whole-hearted support of Shri. G. Kumarappa and his family.

I cannot proceed without thanking Mahashweta Devi for providing me opportunities on two occasions to interview her, inspite of her busy schedules. Meeting her itself is an unforgettable experience.
My deep regards to Dr. C.R. Laha, the ex-vice Chancellor, University of Ranchi, for allowing me to have a discussion with him. Being a renowned scholar in Bengali Literature, Dr. C.R. Laha has given me many useful information about contemporary Bengali Literature as well as the writings of Mahashweta Devi. My friend Dr. S.S. Bhat, the senior Geo-Scientist, CCL, Ranchi, facilitated my interactions with Dr. C.R. Laha. I ever remain thankful to Dr. S.S. Bhat and his family.

I cannot go without acknowledging the help of Dr. Padmanabha Udupa, the senior advocate, Shimoga. He had played a major role in bringing the Research Centre for English to the D.V.S. College of Arts and Science, Shimoga, that helped me to undertake my research activities.

I am grateful to Shri. B.Y. Raghavendra, the Secretary, Swamy Vivekananda Vidya Samsth, Shikaripura, Shri. K.N. Gurumurthy, the political and social activist, Shikaripura and my friends Shri. M.R. Raghu and Shri. A. Jagadish, Shikaripura for their timely help and good wishes.

Mr. Lance A. Lewis, who has done the Computer work neatly and Mr. M.V. Sampath of MVS Printers who has done the binding work very beautifully, deserve my sincere gratitude. I owe a lot to Prof. Manu Chakravorthy from Bangalore who helped academically and Prof. G.K. Goankar of Bailhongal who made my proof reading easier.

The Chief Librarians and their staff of the Kuvempu University Library Shankarghatta, Karnataka University Dharward, Jamia Milia University New Delhi, CIEFL Hyderabad and the University of Kolkatta, deserve my sincere thanks.
The Director and Office staff, the department of College Development Council, Kuvempu University, deserve my whole-hearted acknowledgment. I am ever grateful to my nephews Vinayaka, Shridhar and Srinivas who made my task of material collection at Bangalore for easier. Srl. V.N. Bhat Dharwad, who helped me in my research works, deserves my gratitude. I take this opportunity to express my indebtedness to my student Mr. Kumar H.B. who helped me to collect my research materials through Internet. Prof. R. P. Singh from Rajnandgaon, Chhattisgarh, who helped me in material collection and Prof. Shashidhar S., Dept. of Commerce, Govt. First Grade College, Shikaripur, who relieved me of the N.C.C. works, deserve a special mention.

I ever remain indebted to various writers, critics and book reviewers who enriched my knowledge of Mahashwetha Devi and who have been quoted copiously in the thesis.

I have no words to express my gratitude to my brothers, sisters and my in-laws for their love affection and good wishes. My wife Smt. Savithri and my kids Swathi and Sathwik have missed a lot because of my engagement with the research activities. They gave all sorts of encouragement and help by bearing the burden of hardship that my absence used to cause some times. I apologetically acknowledge their immense help and the constant co-operation.

At last, the project of this kind needs helping hands from all corners for its success. I am fortunate enough to get all the necessary helps from all the sources with all generosity and kindness. While submitting this thesis, I once again express my deep sense of gratitude with all humbleness to all those who helped directly or indirectly for the successful completion of the project.
