A SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY
A SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY

_________. The Generations. (Unpublished)

Bookmarks web: Ngugi wa Thiong’o interviewed on his new novel, Wizard of the Crow. Retrievable: www.socialistworker.co.uk
(Cited:20.01.2007)

190

Clark, Timothy: Marti Heidegger, Lodo: Rutledge, 2002

(Retrievable: www.geocities.com/philodep/divatao/critique_popular. (Cited: 5.05-2007)
Dorn, Paul. Turing Towards the World: Ngugi’s Petals of Blood. (Retrievable:
http://www.runmuki.com/paul/writing/Ngugi.html

(Cited: 19.05.2005

Gandhi, Lingaraja. Literature as a weapon for change: Writing in one’s language is important to decolonise the mind, according to Kenyan writer NGUGI THIONGO who wrote the first ever novel in an African language on toilet paper supplied to him in Jail. Sunday Herald Articulations: Deccan Herald, Sunday, January 23, 2005.

192

Kamoche, Ken. Can Ngugi Ape Hope to Promote Vernacular?.
Posted to The Nation (Nairobi), June 19, 2005.
AllAfrica_comKenya[collum]Can Ngugi Ape And Hope to promote Vernacular_Microsfot word. (On Wizard of the Crow) (Cited: 30.06,2005)

Kakkilaya, B,V. Communism: A Booklet in Kannada on Communism:

194

Madden, David. (Rew) WHAT IS A NOVEL?. Retrievable:
http://encarta.msn.com@i1997-2005Microsoft.
(Cited: 20.05.2006)

Mills, Bronwyn. Ngugi Wa Thiong’o: Exile And Resistance.
(Retrievable:

Murray, Paulus, J.M. Speaking in a Chain of Voices—crafting a story of how I am contributing to the creation of my postcolonial living educational theory through a self study of my practice as a scholar-educator. (Retrievable:http://www.royagcol.ac.uk/~paul_marry/Sub_pages/Furtherlnformation.htm.(Cited: 5.12.2006)

——————, Das Kapital, Hamburg, Verlag Von Otto Meissner, 1893.

Murray, Paulus, J.M. Speaking in a Chain of Voices~crafting a story of how I am contributing to the creation of my postcolonial living educational theory through a self study of my practice as a scholar-educator. (Retrievable: http://www.royagcol.ac.uk/~paul_marry/Sub_pages/FurtherInformation.htm. (Cited: 5.12.2006)

Parnjape, Mararand. Decolonizing English Studies: Attaining Swaraj: Valedictory Address: Professor of English, Jawaharlal Nehru University: (Retrievable:

Quodlibet: The Australian Journal of Trans-national writing.

197

Rao, Venkat. D. Colonial Links-Interview with Ngugi Wa Thiong’o.

(Retrievable: hbrizee@vt.edu. (Cited: 28.09.2005)

Thiong'o, wa Ngugi and Mirii, wa Ngugi. I will Marry When I Want- trans by the authors. London: Heinemann, 1982.

Europhonism, Universities, and the Magic
(From Research in African Literature Volume 31, Number 1)
(Retrievable: http://www.copuywright.com/ (Cited:29.06.2005)

