Content

Introduction .................................................................1-38

Chapter – I.  War and the Human Factor: The Impact of War on Family, Women, and Soldiers .............................................39-86

Chapter – II. War and Economics: A Game of Business and Capitalism ......87-126

Chapter – III. War and Politics: Nationalism and Colonialism ...............127-172

Chapter – IV. War and Dehumanisation ........................................................173-208

Chapter – V. Pro-War Writings: War for a Just Cause ..............................209-250

Conclusion .............................................................................251-259

Works Cited and Consulted ......................................................260-283