It has been privilege to have Dr. Anand Karandikar as my Guru, twice in my journey of learning so far. He was my teacher for Marketing while I was doing my MBA and now, as my mentor for the Doctoral research. He is the one who kindled the understanding and passion for marketing in my formative days 25 years back. He is the one who mentored me to explore the seamlessness of the two streams of management i.e. marketing and human resources while conducting this study. Every hour invested in discussion with him has illuminated a different facet of my own study, every clue provided by him has triggered new thoughts. With his mentoring I have been able to achieve greater width in the scope. It has also helped me in fathoming greater depth in not just the subject matter, but also in how to do research. Dr. Karandikar instilled in me the importance of humility to be a good researcher. I will be eternally grateful to him.

I would like to thank Dr. Anil Gore, Professor of Statistics at University of Pune and VP of statistical services at Cytel; and Dr. Rajas Parchure, Director of Gokhale Institute for their consult about the method to be used for analysis of data.

I must also thank Dr. Sheilesh Kasande. He has always been a source of motivation whenever I felt like giving up. He has played the role of a catalyst in converting my dream of Doctorate into reality. He encouraged and facilitated me to complete the Master’s degree all over again as it was prerequisite of University for enrollment into the course. He gracefully made the library resources of Vishwakarma Institute of Management available to me throughout my Master’s and Doctorate. He tutored me for things I needed to learn anew. The entire staff of VIM has always provided me support and positive vibes for my study. I must also acknowledge Dr. Sharad Joshi for his interest and encouragement throughout this journey.

I cannot thank Mr. Suhas Lunkad enough for his absolutely open and welcoming stance.
Mr. Lunkad is the promoter and CMD of the organization chosen for the case study. Not just did he agree to try out this fairly unknown concept, he also gave unconditional access, free hand and resources to implement the internal marketing interventions in the organization.

Within the organization, I must acknowledge the contribution of the entire HR team for their help in gathering data for the surveys and co-ordinating the interventions that were planned as a part of the study. I must make a special mention of Mr. Rajendra Mahadik who has stood by me for customer interactions for both –before & after, survey of customers. I must thank Ms Suryaa Pawar & Ms Sujatha for their enthusiastic contribution in the pilot study. I would like to express my gratitude also to Ms Archana Patwardhan for being my ‘woman Friday’, in co-coordinating the internal marketing efforts and data entry.

Heartfelt gratitude also to Mr Sundararajan and Mr Vaibhav Date for their expert assistance in drafting of questionnaires, designing internal marketing interventions, participating in the content development of some trainings. Friends like Ms Anita Deshmukh came to my aid for statistical analysis of data.

The list of acknowledgements cannot be over without acknowledging my parents Avinash & Chitra Kale, My daughter Niharika who have been supportive throughout the ups and downs in the journey. I would also like to dedicate a word for my aunt Dr. Lily Joshi who has been a key inspiration to begin this journey and follow it through.
