Acknowledgement

At the outset I am thankful to the former Vice Chancellor and the professor of political science in Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Marathwada University, Dr. H.A. Gani whom I have the honour of having as my supervisor. His cooperative attitude and humble way of suggesting solutions to the challenging areas of study helped me sail through what was certainly a tough chore. I am obliged to the present Head of the Department of Political Science, Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Marathwada University and my teacher, Dr. Mohammed Umar, whose critical tips proved useful in making my approach more precise. I am thankful to former Professor of Political Science in the Department, Dr. Afaaque Khan and my colleagues, Dr. B.S. Waghmare, Dr. S.S. Nikam and Dr. P.S. Amrutkar, Thorat Dada and Kishore Kale for encouraging me during the course of my study.

I express my gratitude to my mentor, Prof. Mohammed Tilawat Ali, President, Rahbar Society, Sir Sayyed College, Aurangabad, who was so very eager to see me acquire doctorate. I am indebted to my Uncle, Dr. Shafiq Ahmed and his late wife, Dr. Waseem Tahera, both of whom were genuinely concerned about the progress of my work, but unfortunately Aunty passed away before this thesis could see the light of the day. Most of the work of this thesis was done in the library of Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Marathwada University and it would not have been possible without the cooperation of the library staff. I sincerely thank the Assistant Librarian, Dr. Shaista Muqueem and her colleagues in helping me locate the appropriate source material as and when required.
A number of friends helped me directly or indirectly during the course of this work. Although I cannot name them all, I thank in particular Dr. Sambhaji Warangule Patil, former Dean of Social Sciences, Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Marathwada University, Aurangabad and the Head, Department of Political Science, Matsyodari College, Jalna, Dr. Navnath Aghav, Head, Department of Political Science, S.B. College, Aurangabad, Prof. Sayyad Rasheed Jilani, Head, Department of Political Science, Terna College, Osmanabad and Dr. Shyam Kadam, Head, Department of Political Science, Mazalgaon College, Mazalgaon. Thanks are also due to all my former colleagues at Sir Sayyed College of Arts, Commerce and Science, Aurangabad.

Finally, I must admit my work was a test of patience for my family members – my mother, my sister, Dr. Nilofer Shakir, my wife, Tayyaba and my kids – Sufiyan Shakir and Moin Shakir – and I am grateful to them for patiently bearing with my prolonged spells of engrossment in the study.
