SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENTS: BRIEF PROFILE

This chapter consists of the history of the department under study in Social Sciences, Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Marathwada University, Course available, and faculties who are working in department.

3.1 Department of Economics
3.1.1 Introduction

The Department of Economics was instituted in the year 1958-59, almost along with the commencement of Marathwada University. It was one of the few Departments established in the initial year and the only Department in the faculty of Social Sciences. From the beginning of the Department attracted good number of students and the main source of attraction was the leadership provided by Dr. V. V. Borkar, the first Head of the Department of Economics. He not only encouraged research activity but himself undertook certain research projects mainly relating to problems of regional development of Marathwada.

Over the years the Department has grown large in terms of physical development, expansion of faculty and bringing out Ph.D. and M. Phil students. So far it has turned out (82) Ph.D. and (96) M. Phil students. Most of them are in responsible position. The Department has organized quite a good number of seminars, symposia and conferences. It is one of the few Departments in the University which has organized these activities on large scale.

In view of the above satisfactory working this Department was, therefore identified by the UGC for implementing the University Leadership Programme (ULP). It has successfully complete two ULP programmes during the years 1982-88. The UGC has further granted to this Department Special Assistance Programme (SAP) since 1987 for years in the first instance and since 1992 for second instance and also third phase from 1998 onwards. It is being successfully implemented.
The Department has been arranging lecture series of eminent economists from India and abroad not only for the benefit of students and teachers but also for the people of the region in general. The Department by and large has fulfilled the expectations of this region in particular and state and nation in general in respect of maintaining standard of economics education and carrying research in economic development. It has further plans of expanding activities. The Department of Economics was established in 1958-59 during the very inception year of the Marathwada University. Dr. V. V. Borkar, an eminent economist, headed this department, right from the inception of the Department till he retired in 1985. It has to be noted with gratitude that, during his tenure, which lasted about twenty-five years, as Professor and Head of the Department, he not only served to encourage and develop research and teaching in the Department but also served on the various committees which had great regional significance. He made a notable contribution by serving on various Committees of the Marathwada University during the year 1960-85. He also served as a member of various Committees of the State Government from time to time. He was given "Ideal Teacher" award, of the State Government in 1980. During his tenure a number of research projects, bearing on the economic/social problems of the Marathwada region were completed. Prof. M. D. Padhye, headed the Department for a brief period from 1st May 1985 to July 1985.

After 1985, Dr. G. S. Kalyankar took over Professor and Head of the Department of Economics. Dr. G. S. Kalyankar who incidentally happens to be a student of Dr. Borkar, followed in the footsteps of Dr. Borkar. During 1985-90, The Department of Economics has successfully completed two University Leadership Programmes. Since 1987 the University Grants Commission has granted to the Department the Special Assistance Programme (SAP) for five years in the first instance and from 1993 for Second Instance. The UGC has sanctioned Third Phase also from 1998 onwards.

Many eminent persons have served the Department of Economics during the initial period. Prof. N. P. Ranbhise, Dr. V. K. Pande, Dr. R. S. Sabnis, Prof. Pimparkar, Dr. V. B. Ghuge, Dr. R. Radhakrishna, Dr. M. V. Nadkarni, Dr. R. K.
Nirgude, Principal B. R. Arbad, Dr. Vasant P. Pethe, Prof. R. S. Dandge etc. Many of these persons are today occupying positions of eminence.

3.4 Department of Sociology

3.4.1 Introduction

Teaching in Sociology in the Colleges of the Marathwada region of the Maharashtra state started since 1961, when the subjects like Sociology, Anthropology and Criminology were unfamiliar and less attractive. But very soon the students developed a liking for these subjects and as a result of their increasing response it was possible for local teachers of Aurangabad to start post-graduate course in sociology from 1966 onwards. The full-fledged University Department of Sociology was established in November, 1968.

An eminent Sociologist late Dr. M. G. Kulkarni headed the Department upto 1983 from its inception. Well-known Sociologist and eminent Social Worker Dr. (Mrs.) Sudha Kaldate gave further leadership to the Department till 1991. Both of them laid the sound academic foundation of the Department and contributed to its academic achievements. Dr. U. B. Bhoite, Ex-faculty member who later became the vice-chancellor of Bharati University and also became the president of Indian Sociological Society. Besides, the department has helped in building a nucleus of professionals who have occupied key positions in different universities, research institutes as well as in reputed national and international organizations.
The department offers curricular and research programmes at the M.A., M.Phil and Ph.D levels. The students are imparted training in the advance areas of sociology which include courses, among others, on Advanced Sociological Theories, Social Demography, Health and Society, Tribal Sociology, Sociology of Mass Media, Criminology, Environmental Sociology, Sociology of Development and Gender and Society.

3.6 Department of Public Administration

3.6.1 Introduction

Public Administration is the most potential of the inputs that go into the designing, Planning and Development process of India. Proper execution administration of the resource is of paramount importance and need of the hour too. With the recent policies and new challenges in socio economic developments the Human Resources administration has added significance. To meet the liberal economic policies of the Government, demand a closer linkage between University and Industries; the former are called upon to reorient and redesign their courses to cater to the changing needs of the employment market. The development goal can be achieved and national productivity can be increased only when the manpower is properly recruited, trained, administration on professional lines.

The Department of Public Administration has been constantly striving to meet ever the over increasing manpower needs of the administration, educational institutions, business and other sectors through revamping syllabus. The department is also planning to introduce some job oriented post graduate diplomas to meet the new challenges in near future. The department also have made all our efforts to equip the students with the latest theoretical and practical inputs to shape them up as promising personalities and Human Resources Personnel.

It is in this context that the Department has brought information brochure for the first time. the brochure provides details of the department, its faculty, students and academic infrastructure so as to introduce them to the society. The purpose of this brochure is also to help the students having desire to enter in the administrative areas, with management skills too.
This brochure would go a long way in prompting interaction between our students and prospective organization and also establishing a link between University and the external world. The department is constantly deputing its students to the Common Wealth Parliamentary Association for the participation in Assembly at Nagpur session every year. It has also increased the participation capacity and vision of the students and teachers. Taking into account present market needs, the Department offers the modern syllabus of Public Administration and management, so the students can avail more avenues and jobs. The recent national level seminars on "Police Public Relations" (2000) and "What Ails Indian Bureaucracy" (2001) are the success of the department activities and efforts towards the subject development. The department has started the use of computers since 2000 and intend to use the internet information system for academic update.
