I am much indebted to Dr. (Mrs.) V. S. Khaparde, my guide and Head, Department of Library and Information Science, Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Marathwada University, Aurangabad for accepting me as a research scholar, and for her encouragement, guidance, valuable suggestions and comments, after reading many parts of this thesis, throughout my Ph. D programme. I greatly appreciate her support and scepticism for my ideas and research plan. It was great pleasure working with her.

A special acknowledgement goes to Dr. Shashank Sonwane, providing his valuable and expertise guidance in the field of library science. The best possible result is due to his constant encouragement and valuable advice.

Heart felt thanks to my mother Sow. Champabai D. Varshil, my wife Anuradha I thank you both most gratefully, for your valuable advice and for your assistance and unlimited support. You kept me happy, challenged, fulfilled and most of all appreciated and loved. Without whom I might never have ended up doing my Ph.D. research within such a short period.

I am specially thankful to Dr. G. D. Adhe, Shri. V. N Deo, Dr. Madan Golwal, and Dr. Mukhyadal Balu, during their visit to Department of Library and Information Science, Aurangabad for providing valuable suggestions when approached during my research work.

I am indebted to the different authors on the subject whose work I have either consulted or quoted. I am also thankful to all those seen and unseen heads and hands that have been of direct or indirect help to me in completion of this research work. Especially, the non-teaching staff of Department of Library and Information Science, Aurangabad.
I acknowledge Mr. Sanjay Waghmare, Mr. Sangharsh Gajbe, Mr. Sankalp Gajbe, Mrs. Pradnya Sonwane, for their help, constant support and encouragement.

Finally, I thank my brother, sister, in-laws and my sons Master Parimal and Master Rituparna for their unlimited support and patiently bearing with me throughout my Ph. D. programme.

The typing, plotting the graphs, drawing the tables, is my own work. The views in this research work are my own, as are the errors.

Shri. B. D. Varshil
