ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The present work is done under the able guidance of Dr. M.D. Muthamma, Additional Director, Directorate of Collegiate Education in Bangalore, Karnataka. I would like to record my indebtedness and sincere gratitude to her who not only motivated me to enrol but also took a great deal of interest in my study all through inspite of her very busy schedule. I am thankful for her valuable insights and help in completing my dissertation.

I would like to thank Dr. R. G. Desai, Chairman and Head, Department of Economics, Bangalore University for all the encouragement and help extended. I also thank the faculty members of the Department, for all the encouragement and help provided during the course of the study.

I place on record my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. Lalith Achoth, Associate Professor, Department of Dairy Economics and Business Management, Dairy Science College, UAS, Hebbal, who gave valuable and inspiring suggestions through out my study. I cannot adequately express in words how much I am beholden to him.

I also sincerely thank Ms. Ramani Nair, Professor, Department of Economics, Maharani’s Arts College for Women, Bangalore, Dr. N. Jayaram, Professor and Head, Department of Sociology, Goa University,
Dr. M.K. Srikantaiah, Professor of Sociology, Maharani's Arts College for Women, Bangalore, the teaching and the non-teaching faculty at ISEC, Library staff of Bangalore University, my friends and students of Mount Carmel College, Bangalore who evinced keen interest in my study and all respondents who co-operated during the field work.

I would like to thank Mr. Mohan Mulbagal and Mr. R. B. Nayak for their timely help. I thank Mr. H. K. Govinda Rao and his son Mr. Srinivas who gave my thesis a presentable look.

Lastly, I would be failing in my duty if I do not express gratitude to my dear parents, parents-in-law, husband, brother-in-law, co-sister and sister whose encouragement and co-operation was indispensable for the completion of the work.

Though the names are not mentioned I would like to thank my relatives and friends for all the help and encouragement extended during the course of the research.
