ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is a pleasure for me to acknowledge here the contributions and help rendered by many scholars in the completion of this research work.

At the outset, I am highly grateful and indebted to Dr. Rekha Jagannath, Reader in Economics, Christ College, Bangalore University, Bangalore, who, through her able guidance, comments and suggestions, has helped me in the completion of this research study. She has been a source of constant encouragement and help right from the selection of the research topic till its completion.

I am grateful to Dr. Veerachamy, Professor and Chairman, Department of Economics, Bangalore University, Bangalore for his kind cooperation in completing this thesis.

I will be failing in my duty, if I do not mention the name of Professor Desai, Department of Economics, Bangalore University, Bangalore. It was his consistent encouragement that made me to venture into this work.

Prof. Rangaswamy, former Head and Dean, Department of Economics, Bangalore University, Bangalore and other Faculty helped and facilitated the submission of my thesis through the Department of Economics Bangalore University, Bangalore. I am thankful to all of them.

I acknowledge the help of the staff of the NABARD, in Bangalore and Kolar, particularly Dr. Menon, Sri. Kasturi and Sri Ravi Kumar. They helped me in collecting data, both qualitative and quantitative, for thesis work. Without their support it would have been difficult to complete the thesis work. I am also thankful to the officers of Commercial Bank, Regional Rural Bank, Credit Co-operative Bank.
and Primaly Land Development Bank, Kolar for accepting interviews and providing useful information.

In the preparation of my thesis, I have benefitted from various libraries. I wish to thank the staff of Bangalore University library for help and encouragement. The use of other libraries, like ISEC, UAS, Indian Institute of Management and British Library Bangalore, enriched my knowledge in completing the thesis and I am thankful to the staff of these libraries.

My affectionate thanks to all my friends at Department of Economics, Bangalore University to complete the Thesis.

My thanks are due to the administrative staff of the Department of Economics and the staff of the Ph.D section, Bangalore University, Bangalore.

I don't find words to express my gratitude to my parents and brother as they have sacrificed their comforts to bring me up and facilitated me to get higher education. Last but not the least I am highly indebted to my wife Mrs. G R Rupa, who not only encouraged me to complete the work but also kept me free from my household chores to enable me to devote full attention to my thesis work.
