BIBLIOGRAPHY

PRIMARY SOURCES

Garret, Jimmy. "And We Own The Night." The Drama Review, 12, No.4 (Summer 1968), 62-69.

SECONDARY SOURCES

___.

___.

___.

___.

___.

"New Play in Manhattan: The Dark At the Top of the Stairs." Time, 70 (16 December 1957), 42.

___.

___.

___.

"Delta Wild Cat." Time, 104 (7 October 1974), 56.

___.

Armatto, Philip M. "The Bum As Scapegoat in William Inge's Picnic." Western American Literature, 10 (February 1976), 273-82.

___.

___.

___.

___.

___.

Barnes, Clive. "Blues For Mr. Baldwin." National Review, 7 (July 1972), 150.

Bates, Barclay W. "The Lost Past in Death of A Salesman." Modern Drama, 11, No.2 (September 1968), 164-172.

Berne, Eric M.D. "Games People Play in Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" Modern Drama, 10, No.3 (December 1967), 280-287.

"Edward Albee's Georgia Ballad." Twentieth Century Literature, 13, No.4 (January 1968), 279-316.

Brady, Ouen E. "LeRoi Jones's The Slave: A Ritual of Purgation."

Brandson, Henry II. "The State of the Theatre: A Conversation with

Brody, Jane. "The Case is Familiar But the Theatre is Absurd."

Bromberg, Victor. The Hero In Literature. Greenwich: Fawcett

Broussard, Louis. American Drama: Contemporary Allegory From O'Neill

5" (1968), 654-66.

28 August 1949, Sec. II, pp.11, 59.

Brown, D.R. "Albee's Targets." Satire Newsletter, 6, No.2
(September 1969), 46-52.

Brudnoy, David. "Blues for Mr. Baldwin." National Review, 24
(7 July 1972), 750-751.

Words." Commentary, 25 (February 1958), 123-129.

217 (November 1958), 52-57.

Brustein, Robert. "The Theatre of Middle Seriousness." Harper's Magazine,
March 1959, pp.60-63.

Brustein, Robert. "Krapp and a Little Claptrap." New Republic, 142
(22 February 1960), 21-22.

--. "Theatre." The Nation, 176 (7 March 1953), 293.

--. "LeRoi Jones's Naughton's Alfic." Nation, 200 (4 January 1965), 16-17.

Dias, Earl J. "Full-Scale Albee." Drama Critique, 8 (Fall 1965), 107-112.

Downer, Alan S. "Mr. Williams and Mr. Miller." Furioso Reviews, Summer 1949, pp. 66-70.

Eskin, Stanley G. "Theatricality in the Avant-Garde Drama: A Reconsideration of a Theme in the Light of The Balcony, and The Connection." Modern Drama, 72 (Spring 1964), 213-222.

--- "Who's Afraid of Eduard Albee?" Drama Review, 7, No.3 (September 1963), 7-17.

\[\text{The Human Image in Dramatic Literature. New York: Garden City, 1957.}\]

\[\text{"After Paranoi, What next?" Tulane Drama Review, 7, No.4 (Summer 1963), 22-26.}\]

Fischer, William C. "The Pre-Revolutionary Writings of Imamu Amiri Baraka." The Massachusetts Review, 14, No.2 (Spring 1973), 259-305.

Flakman, Seyman Z. "The Debt of William and Miller to Ibsen and Strinberg." Comparative Literature Studies, 1 (1963), 51-60.

Flasch, Joy. "Games People Play In Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" Modern Drama, 10, No.3 (December 1967), 280-88.

\[\text{"The Lost Self of Modern Literature." Personalist, 42 (August 1962), 527-38.}\]

Gabriel, Gilbert W. "Death of a Salesman." Theatre Arts, 73 (April 1949), 14-16.

—. "The Drama is Coming Now." Tulane Drama Review, 7 (Summer 1963), 72.

Harris, Wendell V. "Morality, Absurdity and Albee." Southwest Review, 49, No. 3 (Summer 1964), 249-56.

Hazard, Forest E. "The Major Themes In Woolf?" College English Association Critic, 31, No.3 (December 1968), 10-11.

"Light in the Living Room." Saturday Review, 40 (21 December 1957), 27.

___. "Benchmanship." Saturday Review, 43 (6 February 1960), 32.

___. "Who's Afraid of Big Bad Broadway?" Saturday Review, 45 (27 October 1962), 29.

- "In Search of the Revolutionary Theatre." Negro Digest, 16 (April 1970), 4.

- "Black (Art) Drama is The Same as Black Life." Ebony, 26 February 1971, pp.74-76.

- "Black Revolutionary Poets Should Also Be Playwrights." Black World, 21 (April 1972), 4-7.

Lee, Robert C. "Evangelism And Anarchy in The Iceman Cometh." Modern Drama, 12, No.2 (September 1969), 173-186.

---

"Myth and the American Dream: O'Neill to Albee." Modern Drama, 7, No. 2 (September 1964), 190-98.

---

---

---

---

---

"The Black Art Movement." The Drama Review, 12, No. 4 (Summer 1968), 28-29.

- "Over the Edge." New Yorker, 40 (4 April 1964), 78-79.

"The Plays of Tennessee Williams." Tulane Drama Review, 4, No.3 (Spring 1960), 45-64.

Schneider, Alan. "Reality is Not Enough." Tulane Drama Review, 9, No.3 (Spring 1965), 118-52.

Sickels, Eleanor M. "MacLeish and The Fortunate Fall." American Literature, 35 (May 1963), 205-217.

Siegel, Ben. "Miracle on Broadway: and the Box-Office Magic of the Bible." Modern Drama, 3 (February 1961), 378-86.

Zimbardo, Rose A. "Symbolism and Naturalism in Edward Albee's The Zoo Story." Twentieth Century Literature, 8 (April 1962), 10-17.