ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I should like to express my special gratitude to my supervisor, Prof. Pam Rajput, Ex-Chairperson, Department of Political Science, Panjab University, Chandigarh and also, the Director for Women's Studies and Development. Known for intellectual pursuits, prolific writings and erudition, she not only initiated me into this study but also readily agreed to supervise my work. Her perseverance to go through every minutest detail of this work and dissemination of new ideas have been of great help. But for her constant guidance and active interest, the study would not have come to fruition in its present form.

I am deeply beholden to Hon'ble Speaker, Lok Sabha, Shivraj V. Patil as well as other leading parliamentarians - L. K. Advani, Margaret Alva, Chitta Basu, V. N. Gadgil, Dinesh Goswami, Madhu Limaye, Om Mehta, Ram Niwas Mirdha, H. N. Mukherjee, Chintamani Panigrahi, Ramlal Parikh, P. Shiv Shankar and L. M. Singhvi - who spared some of their very precious time to be interviewed for this work. Besides other data and facts, the study relies to a great extent on their assessment of the private members' Bills system and the comments thereon. To make this work further broad based, it also incorporates the valued views of Dr. Shanker Dayal Sharma, the then Hon'ble Vice-President of India and Chairman of the Rajya Sabha, and other illustrious parliamentarians - Dr. Balram Jakhar, Madhu Dandavate, S. W. Dhabe,
Eduardo Faleiro, Bhogendra Jha, K. Lakkappa, S. P. Mitra, Geeta Mukherjee, S. Jaipal Reddy, Saugata Roy, Saif-ud-din Soz, P. N. Sukul and Hukum Dev Narayan Yadav - to whom I should like to acknowledge my grateful thanks.

For advice on particular points and friendly encouragement, I am indebted to Col. S. K. Adya. Unremitting in efforts, he went through this work at several stages and made a number of invaluable suggestions to improve its scope, format and utility. Credit also goes to him and his band of associates for the computer work in presenting analytical graphs.

My thanks are also due to my wife, Nirmal, for her unstinted co-operation and a constant word of cheer which proved to be a perennial source of inspiration.

I am grateful to all those friends and family members who, directly or indirectly, helped me in completion of this work.

I must, of course, add that the views expressed in this study are entirely personal.
