ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is my pleasure to express my respectful gratitude to Prof. A. Guanam, the Vice-Chancellor of Pondicherry University, Pondicherry for providing me an excellent opportunity to undergo the Doctoral course in Economics in the University.

It is a source of immense pleasure for me to place on record my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to my supervisor Dr. M. Ramadass, formerly Professor and Head, Department of Economics, and Director, Academic Staff College and Community College, Pondicherry University, Pondicherry who generously consented to supervise my research work. His expert guidance, keen interest and active encouragement, stimulating discussions and comments inspite of his onerous administrative responsibilities have inculcated in me a sense of involvement and devotion which has enabled me to complete the thesis successfully. His contribution in shaping the thesis is immeasurable.

My thanks are also due to Prof.D. Datchinamoorthy, formerly Registrar and Controller of Examinations, Pondicherry University, Pondicherry for permitting me to pursue my research studies as a full time scholar.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr.K.Ramachandran, Professor and Head, Department of Economics, the Faculty members and the non-teaching staff for their active encouragement and help.

In shaping this thesis the valuable assistance rendered by the staff of the Department of Economics and Statistics, Government of Pondicherry deserve mention. They have given their excellent co-operation in providing me the necessary data and other particulars required for my thesis work. I am very much thankful to Mr. K.S.Krishnamurthy, the Director, Mr. Joseph Anandou, Statistical Officer and other staff of the Department. My thanks also goes to Mr. S. Alagiriswamy, Joint Director, Department of Economics and Statistics and formerly Deputy Director of the Statistics Cell, Registration of Births and Deaths, Local Administration Department, Government of Pondicherry for his help. I am also grateful to Tmt. A.S. Vijayalakshmi, Deputy Director and other staff of the Department of Planning and Research for supplying me the necessary details.

My thanks are also due to Dr.A. Augustin Paul, Director and staff of the Statistics Wing, Department of Health and Family Welfare, Government of Pondicherry, Pondicherry for providing me the data pertaining to health profile of Pondicherry.

The Director, the Librarian and staff of the Centre for Development Studies,
Trivandrum' deserve my gratitude for their help in my collecting information from learned journals in their institute.

My special thanks also goes to Mr. Manivannan, National Informatic Centre, Government of Pondicherry for providing me the necessary 'All India health data'. I am also thankful to Prof. M. Rajapandian, Head of the Department of Computer Science, K.M. Centre for Post Graduate studies, Pondicherry, for his help in drawing the diagrams and graphical illustrations.

Prof. M. Purushothaman, Principal and my colleagues in the Department of Economics, Tagore Arts College, Pondicherry deserve my gratitude for the help rendered by them in the preparation of this thesis.

I am thankful to the University Grants Commission, New Delhi and the Director of Education, Government of Pondicherry for deputing me to undergo the Ph.D. Course under the Teacher Fellowship Programme of the U.G.C.

I am also grateful to Messrs. M. Sundaram and P. Anbazhagan of Community College, Pondicherry University for their help in the compilation and analysis of the data.

On a personal note I wish to express my appreciation to my brother Thiru S. Selva Muthukumarasamy, my wife Tmt. C. Malarvizhi and my sons Tvl. C.Venkatesh Kumar and C. Ramesh Kumar for providing me their moral support and active encouragement for completion of this research work in time.

I am also thankful to M/s Rank Computers and M/s Newcon Global Services, Pondicherry, who computerised this thesis very neatly.

S. CHIDAMBARANATHAN
15/1/96