ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I express my deep gratitude to Prof. P. Muralidharudu, Registrar, Nagarjuna University, Guntur, for his keen interest in research activities of the University in general and Department in particular. As my teacher, I have great faith and respect to him.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to my teacher and former research supervisor Prof. N.V. Narayana, for his generous help and inspiring guidance in selecting the research topic and designing the programme to complete this piece of work.

I shall remain grateful to Prof. V.T. Naidu, Rector, S.K. University, Anantapur for his helpful suggestions.

My sincere thanks to Dr. V. Reddeppa Reddy, Reader and Head, the Department of Rural Development, Sri Krishnadevaraya University, Anantapur, for his helpful suggestions.

I am very much grateful to my research supervisor Sri. K. Govindappa, Lecturer, Department of Rural Development for his guidance and ready willingness to complete the thesis.
I take this opportunity to thank the faculty members of the Department of Rural Development namely Dr. G. Sreedhar, Dr. K. Bhaskar, Dr. C. Sudhakar, Mrs. R. Suguna Nagabhushanam, Dr. Chenna Reddy and Mrs. V. Roja Lakshmi for their kind co-operation and encouragement to complete this work.

I am very much thankful to Dr. Ch. Umamohan, Dr. Amarnath Das and Sri. G. V. Ramana, Department of Sociology and Dr. M. Jayaraju, Department of Economics, for their helpful suggestions and co-operation.

I am thankful to Sri. G. Venugopal, Research Scholar, S.K. Institute of Management and Sri. P. Venkata Rami Reddy for their helpful suggestions and cooperation.

I thank to Prof. M. A. Windy, Operational Director, Mrs. Nirmala Mary, Personal Officer, Mrs. Rama Kumari, Secretary, Mr. S. Jesudas, Regional Co-ordinator, Sri. K. Nageswara Rao, Assistant Co-ordinator, G. Vijaya Kumar, Basic Product Training Centre (B.T.P.C.), Superintendent Parecherla range and Mrs. Rama Kumari, Typist and other members of Village Reconstruction Organisation (V.R.O.), Guntur, for providing the necessary information and data for my research work.

I am thankful to Dr. Prakash Rao, and Sri. Annamalai, Research Associates and Dr. G. Narayana Reddy,
Assistant Director, National Institute of Rural Development, Hyderabad for having supplemented needful material and timely suggestions.

I am indebted to my mother, brothers, sister-in-laws and sisters for their encouragement and interests shown on me throughout my academic career.

I thank to my friends and co-research scholars for their encouragement.

I also thank to Sri. A. Prasad, Junior Assistant and Mr. D. Naga Muneendra, Attender, Department of Rural Development for their co-operation in this work.

Finally, I also wish to thank the typist, Sri. P. Lokanna for neatly typing of my thesis work.

P. ANANDA BABU