ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The Herculean task of the process of this thesis has been done with the support of many academicians, well wishers and friends all of whom deserve my gratitude. Foremost among these worthies are my Research Supervisor Dr A Karuppaiah, Reader, Department of Sociology, University of Madras for his constant support and encouragement. The researcher also expresses her profound and heartfelt thanks to Mr V Manivannan, I.A.S., former Chairman of Tamil Nadu Slum Clearance Board for permitting me to undertake the research. I am also thankful to Dr D Jayalakshmi, Head, Department of Sociology, University of Madras and Dr Ilamadhian, Professor, Tamil Nadu Institute of Labour Studies, who deserve special mention for their valuable guidance and suggestions to improve the present study.

I am also indebted to Dr V Sethuramalingam, Lecturer, Department of Social Work, Bharathidasan University, Thiruchirapalli in many ways for his support, information and guidance. I sincerely thank Dr Umesh Samuel, Faculty in Social Work, Bishop Heber College, Thiruchirappali who have helped me very much in statistical analysis and interpretation of the data and suggestions in upgrading the research methodology. My sincere thanks are due to Rev. Fr. Vijay Kiran for proof reading, formatting the thesis and for his valuable suggestions. The researcher also would like to thank Dr Fathima Vasanth, Faculty in Social Work, Madras School of Social Work, for constant support rendered to me through out the research work. I would like to thank Mr Thyagarajan and Mr Sethurama Subbiah, Faculty members, Tamil Nadu Institute of Labour Studies for their valuable guidance.
My special thanks to my colleagues at Tamil Nadu Slum Clearance Board especially Mr C J Paul, former Chief Community Development Officer, Mr Shanmugam, Chief Community Development Officer i/c, Mrs Kanagathara, Mr Hillary Raveender, Mr Jegannathan, Mr Pandian, Mr Rajendran, Mr Zafrulah, Mrs Hydwick Rosy, Mr Natarajan, Community Development Officers and Mr V T Ranganathan, Community Officer, Mrs U Manimekalai, Assistant Planner for their enthusiastic and moral support rendered to me during the research period.

I would like to specially thank the Editors of Sage Publications in publishing my study on "Women's empowerment through Self Help Groups: A Participatory Approach" in the Indian Journal of Gender Studies in the July to December 2002 Edition.

I would be failing in my duty if I do not mention about my respondents whom I am associated with for more than five years. I would like to thank them for their keen interest in answering all the questions patiently and co-operated with me in completing my data as per the schedule. I would like to thank Ms Aruna, Community Organiser, CDD WATSAN programme for helping me in identification of respondents and processing the data.

I would like to thank Mr Alwin, M S Automations, Thiruchirappalli for computer processing of the research data. I would like to specially thank the Librarians of University of Madras, Connemera Library, Madras Institute of Development Studies, Initiatives for Women In Development, C P Ramasamy Iyer Foundation and M S Swaminathan Research Foundation for their cooperation in referring recent books, Journals and articles on women's empowerment.
Last, but not the least, I would like to express my heartfelt thanks to my husband Mr N L Narasimhan, for bearing with me patiently and happily all inconveniences caused due to my absence at home even during holidays. But for the ungrudging help at home from my sister-in-law Ms Subbalakshmi and the tolerance of my son Bhargava Narasimhan who often missed my company and support at the prime time of his growth and studies, my work would not have seen the light of the day.
