ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Maharashtra state has been always at the forefront in the field of agricultural industry and agricultural education. It has been motivated at the state level in the case of research, exploration and also in important research projects, so that there should be multifarious development of the state related to economic, industrial, social, cultural and agricultural fields. In this multifarious development, the role of agricultural university libraries cannot be connived at. The main aim of this learning is to develop the information system by studying the reality of an agriculture university. For all-round development of Maharashtra agriculture university libraries, they have been studied taking into consideration different attitudes.

I got interested in the learning of users of agriculture university libraries when my director, Dr. Shamkantjee Deshmukh, used to throw light on the learning of university library, the role of users education and co-operation in classes. This is because; I am associated with the field-work of college library. In fact, I could do, as per my interest, the function of its valuation and survey due to the guidance of my director.

It could have been impossible for me to complete my research work without the guidance of my devoted teacher and well-wishers. Valuable thoughts have been organized in order to fulfill this research work for making questionnaires and personal contact due to the popular scholar’s maximum activities. In fact, I am thankful to all the writers concerned with these activities. I wholeheartedly thank all the authorities and employees, along with the users, teachers, students, researchers, graduate and post-graduate students who responded me suitably for the collection of the data.
