CHAPTER - 1
INTRODUCTION
Female Prometheuses and feminist reconfigurations:
A study of Feminist articulation of Hermeneutical alternatives.

1.1 Invading the sanctuaries of patriarchal ideology. 1
1.2 Revisionist strategies as feminist hermeneutical alternatives. 6
1.3 Decoding the hidden connections between patriarchal cultural authority and female identity: The feminist theoretical framework of the study. 8
1.4 An overview. 15
1.4.1. Reviewing patriarchal reality through the 'fantastic' and 'science fictional' modes. 15
1.4.2. A happy blending of realistic and speculative modes. 24
1.4.3. Reclaiming the 'scriptural' text for articulating 'secular' truths. 25
1.4.4. Feminist revaluation of contemporary social experiences in dystopia. 26
1.4.5. Feminist linguistic perspective and dystopia. 27
1.4.6. Unveiling the Power Equations in Feminist Dystopia. 27
1.4.7. Dystopia and the meta historical perspective. 28
1.4.8. The coupling of the epigrammatic fable with contemporary feminism. 29
1.5. Revisioning texts and contexts: A summary of the four major chapters of the study. 29

CHAPTER - 2
2.1. Uncovering the patriarchal power structure of secular and spiritual realms – An Introduction. 39
2.2. The Firebrand: Reclaiming silenced Female voices. 41
2.2.1. Re-visionsing Queens of the matriarchal faith: asking new and different questions. 46
2.2.2. Resisting the interpellative hegemony of the 'master' narrative. 50
2.2.3. Recasting Hecuba: The erstwhile Amazonian princess as a Queen, wife and Mother in Trojan patriarchy. 53
2.2.4. Kassandra, the tormented visionary of Troy: Daughter of an Amazon and the Trojan King. 58

Notes 37 - 38
2.2.5. Crossing the borders of patriarchy: Kassandra and the sorority of Amazons.

2.2.6. Sexual politics and the woman in patriarchy:
"Is female to male as nature is to culture?"

2.2.7. Sisterhood in patriarchy; the royal women of Troy.

2.2.8. Kassandra, the priestess.

2.2.9. Retelling the story of the Trojan War: A Feminist revelation of the degeneracy of militarist patriarchy.

2.2.10. Kassandra’s vision of an egalitarian, non-patriarchal order.

2.3 Casting aside gynophobic masks to reclaim the Goddess: The Mists of Avalon, by Marion Zimmer Bradley.

Notes 117 – 118

CHAPTER – 3
Decoding the misogynist wisdom of patriarchal myths: Feminist revisionist consciousness in Namjoshi’s Feminist Fables and The Mothers of Maya Diip.

3.1. Feminist Fables and Feminist Theory. 119
3.1.1 Disrupting patriarchal logic: Sabotaging the interpellative power of the ‘logonomic’ system. 120
3.1.2 Decoding the political and social meanings of patriarchal literary representations. 122
3.1.3 Delineation of ‘Consciousness-raising’ in Feminist Fables: Re-interpreting the ‘personal’ as the ‘political’. 123
3.1.4 Feminist Fables as the revelation of a ‘powerful infidel heteroglossia’. 125
3.1.5 Inscribing a feminist idiom: Gaining new realities through authentication of women’s experiences. 126
3.1.6 Casting new truths of contemporary feminism into the imperative mode. 129

3.2. Feminist Fables: Re-mythologising myths. 130
3.2.1. Re-visioning the representations of women in classical mythology. 134

3.3. Unveiling the sexist schemata of fairy tales and legends: demystifying female immanence. 149

3.4. Female Affiliations. 175
3.5. Parodying the stereotype of the ‘feminine’ woman. 181
3.6. Parodying representations of mothers in the patriarchal order – Feminist Fables and The Mothers of Maya Diip. 184

Notes 194 – 195
CHAPTER - 4
Madness as the desiderium for an alternative reality :
Marge Piercy's Woman On The Edge of Time.  196 - 247
4.1. "Madness and Sexual Politics" - A Feminist Revaluation.  196
4.2. Woman On The Edge of Time : Unveiling the  200 patriarchal violence and deprivation at the heart of female insanity.
4.3. "A human garbage carried to the dump" : Re-visioning  203 life in an asylum.
4.4. 'Border Crossing' : The delineation of a feminist futuristic utopia.  222
4.5. The dystopian future world as a critique of patriarchal  241 consumerist culture.
4.6. Conclusion.
Notes  246 - 247

CHAPTER - 5
The Nightmare land of Dystopia : A revisionist tool of feminist 248 - 276
exploration – The Handmaid’s Tale by Margaret Atwood.
5.1. Where woman has been turned into a ‘mute symbol’ : 248
Reconstructing the ‘true story’ of feminist dystopia.
5.2. The patriarchal sexual prison of Gilead  254
and the dehumanisation of motherhood.
5.3. A diasporized 'woman culture'  259
5.4. ‘Caricatures of patriarchal culture’s image of  264
femininity’ : Handmaids in Gileadian patriarchate.
5.5. 'The Politics of Reproduction' : Feminist  270
theoretical underpinnings.
5.6. Dialogism and feminist re-vision.  274
5.7. Conclusion  275
Notes  276
6.1. CONCLUSION – Feminist Re-vision : A positive project of refiguring 277 - 280 the ‘feminine’.

BIBLIOGRAPHY.  281 - 286