ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to take this opportunity to thank a number of people without whom I could not have completed this thesis. First, I must credit my family for their constant support, love, and encouragement in all of my endeavors, and for emphasizing the significance of continued learning throughout life.

I would like to thank Dr. Akhilesh Pandey for giving me an opportunity to learn and perform research at the Institute of Bioinformatics (IOB). Apart from the research skills learnt the scientific communication and many more core tenants of the science.

I owe thanks my guide, Dr. Raghothama Chaerkady, for his guidance and support. His enthusiasm and support was an inspiration during the research. Above all it was great to work together and to observe him and learn how to execute the experiments.

I would like to thank my Co-guide, Prof. Y. L. Ramachandra for extending great help from the beginning of my research proposal through the submission of progress reports to the submission of the thesis. Most importantly rendering the hope in every stage of the work.

I owe a special thanks to Dr. Satishchandra and Dr. Sanjib Sinha for their continued inspiration through the discussion and the passion that they ignited to serve the patients with epilepsy.
I am highly grateful to Dr. Shankar for his constant support and inspiration to perform the research. Thank you sir, for your inspiration and the great deal of assistance in this small scientific endeavor.

Dr. Anita Mahadevan, madam without you, I cannot think about the completion of the work, and the advices and the support that you had extended. Thanks a lot.

Dr. Keshav and Dr. Harsha, many thanks for their support and the input on the work and design of experiments.

My friends each of you has made immeasurable contributions to my education and personal growth,

Manoj kashyap, Arivu, Harrys, Santosh, Harsh, Nandini, Shiva, Kumaran, Rajasekhar, Lavanya, Dhanashree, Sutopa, Rajesh, Sowmya

Lakshmi, Sameer, I owe special thanks them and the immense support they provided to me is invaluable. You made learning and executing the scientific thoughts and experiments possible. Thanks a lot.

I owe special thanks to Sujan Ganapathy and Sudeep for their constant help at the university.

And I am grateful to the constant support and inspiration of Raziya and family, Binoj, Suja, Arul, Mexi.
