express my profound sense of gratitude to R. T. Prabhakar, my Supervisor. His immense confidence in me has inculcated a sense of responsibility and commitment to research. But for his encouragement, invaluable help and guidance would not have made much headway in this project. Consider it as one of the blessings of my life to have known and worked under him.

I acknowledge my debt to Dr. M. S. Nagarajan, Reader, Department of English, University of Madras, who generously spared his precious time offering me invaluable suggestions and helpful comments in the formulation of this thesis.

I also wish to thank Dr. C. T. Indira whose scholarly traits instilled in me an aptitude for research and study.

I wish to express my grateful acknowledgements to Ms. Harriet Arnow Simpson, American literary luminary, who, so very kindly responded to my request beyond my expectations in sending a lengthy study of Angel of Light.

I express my gratitude to Prof. Bonnie Martha Mesinger who set a tone for an abiding kinship in sympathetically considering a request from a total stranger. Her learned Dissertation she so magnanimously 'Airmailed,' Offered a framework, focus and a source of great inspiration in writing this thesis. Her kind gesture provided a deep and broad basis for understanding Joyce Carol Oates.
express my gratitude to the University Grants Commission and the benign Management of Sir Theagaraya College, Madras for selecting me to do research on a full-time basis, under the Faculty Improvement Programme of the University Grants Commission of India.

I wish to acknowledge my gratitude to the American Studies Research Center, Hyderabad for granting me the Fellowship that provided a motivation and zest for studying American literature.

I wish to acknowledge my debt to Shri K.V. Seetharam, Deputy Library Director, American Center Library, Madras. He has been a source of immense help to me in dispelling the initial apprehensions and in providing ways and means to make much progress in my work.

I also wish to acknowledge my debt to Shri V. Bhaskara Rao of the American Center Library, Madras for his sympathy and kind consideration for the students of American Culture.

I am deeply indebted to Dr. Malcolm J. Bosse and Dr. William Mulder, the then Fulbright visiting Lecturer and the Director American Studies Research Center, Hyderabad, respectively. Repositories of scholarship and professional competence, they opened new vistas in my research career in considerably enriching and enhancing its value.

I especially wish to express my grateful thanks to Dr. V. Loganathan, Professor and Head, Post Graduate Department of Economics, Sir Theagaraya College, Madras, for his valuable advice and constant encouragement bestowed on me.
I express my gratitude to the University Grants Commission and the benign Management of Sir Theagaraya College, Madras for selecting me to do research on a full-time basis, under the Faculty Improvement Programme of the University Grants Commission of India.

I wish to acknowledge my gratitude to the American Studies Research Center, Hyderabad for granting me the Fellowship that provided a motivation and zest for studying American Literature.

I wish to acknowledge my debt to Shri K.V. Seetharam, Deputy Library Director, American Center Library, Madras. He has been a source of immense help to me in dispelling the initial apprehensions and in providing ways and means to make much progress in my work.

I also wish to acknowledge my debt to Shri V. Bhaskara Rao of the American Center Library, Madras for his sympathy and kind consideration for the students of American Culture.

I am deeply indebted to Dr. Malcolm J. Bosse and Dr. William Mulder, the then Fulbright visiting Lecturer and the Director American Studies Research Center, Hyderabad, respectively. Repositories of scholarship and professional competence, they opened new vistas in my research career in considerably enriching and enhancing its value.

I especially wish to express my grateful thanks to Dr. V. Loganathan, Professor and Head, Post Graduate Department of Economics, Sir Theagaraya College, Madras, for his valuable advice and constant encouragement bestowed on me.
His warm and affable nature, his wide scholarship and knowledge gained through years of experience were of immense help to me.

I wish to acknowledge my debt to my Co-brother Dr.K. Subbaraj and my Sister-in-law Dr. Chandra Sireesha. They have together shown me the way to research and scholarship. Their timely sending of the important research material from Canada helped me a lot.

I wish to express my sense of gratitude to Dr.S.Jayadev Babu, Dr.A. Lakshmana Chetty, and Shri B.S. Mani for their kind concern in the successful completion of this project.

I acknowledge my debt to Shri K. Aghoram, Shri Mohana Sundaram, Shri G. Elumalai, Shri Dilawar Hussain of the University of Madras and Shri Thevarthanad of the Freedom Press, Madras 21, who gave shape and size to my thesis making it presentable.

I convey my profound sense of gratitude to my father Shri K. Venkata Krishna. His warm concern for me has come to assume considerable significance in shaping my entire career. But for his abiding interest in my education, I would not have travelled towards research.

I express my debt of gratitude to my wife Smt.M.Chandra Smitha Devi. Her unfailing courtesy, constant attention and precious suggestions she offered time and again infused in me a great confidence and strengthened my convictions. My warm sense of appreciation children Shyam, Anu and Deepu who promoted my research ambitions with their dear concern. My appreciation to my nephew Ratan.

Acknowledgements are also due to:

Prof. D. Raja Ganesh

Dr. R. Palanivel

Dr. R. Ananthasayynam

... and a number of friends who have helped me. I am indebted to them.

K.V. BALAJI PRASAD.