BIBLIOGRAPHY
BIBLIOGRAPHY:

Albany: SUNY Press, 1998. (Includes three essays on gender issues.) (Description/Contents) (Review)

32. Davies, C., 1996, 'The sociology of professions and the profession of gender', Sociology, 30, 661-78

64. Harden, C., 1997, 'A midwife at whose knees I would gladly sit', Midirs Midwifery Digest, 7:151-2

121. Quinby, Lee (ed.). Women Confronting the New Technologies. A special issue (vol. XXIX, no. 3-4 [Fall/Winter 2001]) of Women's Studies Quarterly. (Table of Contents).

137. Spertus, Ellen and Evelyn Pine (eds.). Gender in the Internet Age. Vol. 18, No. 1 of the CPSR Newsletter. (Includes 9 essays on gender and the Internet.)

141. Swaan, A. de, 1989, 'The reluctant imperialism of the medical profession', Social Science and Medicine, 28, 1165-70

146. Torstendahl, Rolf (1990a) 'Essential Properties, Strategic Aims and Historical Development: Three Approaches to Theories of Professionalism', in Michael Burrage and Rolf Torstendahl (eds) Professions in Theory and History: Rethinking the Study of the Professions, pp. 44-61. London: Sage.

