ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

As I begin to write these few lines after completion of the thesis, I sincerely express my gratitude to Dr. B. Padmanabha Reddy, my research supervisor, for his generous and valuable guidance during the entire prosecution of my research work. I convey my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. A.G. Naidu, Prof. C.V. Raghavulu, Dr. M. Bapuji, Dr. Y.V. Ramanaiah and Dr. M. Sambasiva Rao for their valuable guidance, useful criticism, helpful suggestions and constant encouragement and support. It is also my duty to thank my colleagues for their encouragement in this research work.

I sincerely thank the Librarians and other staff members of NIRD, A.P. Forest Department and so many officials and non-officials who are connected with the Social Forestry Programmes for providing the necessary data and other relevant materials without which the present study would never have been the light of the day. Especially, I am thankful to DFOs of Anantapur, Prakasam and Mahaboobnagar districts for their hearty cooperation and immense help in providing necessary information for my research work.

This research work would have still been incomplete if it had not been for the assistance rendered by the sample households. I would like to thank the sample households who are the beneficiaries of the Social Forestry Programmes for their quick response to my questionnaire without any hesitation. Once again I would like to thank all those who have helped me directly or indirectly in completing the endeavour.

Last but not least, I would like to thank with a grateful heart to my parents, brother, sister, brother-in-law and other family members for their constant source of inspiration and help in all my academic pursuits. Specially, I am thankful to my wife and son for their unforgettable cooperation in completing this research work.

Finally, I thank Mr. N. Hemakshi Achari for his keen interest and for neat and clean typing of this thesis.
