CONCLUSION

This study concludes that core stability training is more effective than conventional training in increasing

- the strength of the core muscles
- bowling speed
- throwing capacity
- the core muscles endurance of the fast bowlers

The core stability training also helps in reducing the incidences of the back pain among the fast bowlers.