ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I consider it to be a privilege to have done this work under the scholarly supervision and guidance of Prof. Virendra Kumar. I express my sincerest and deepest gratitude to him. But for his encouragement, inspiration and guidance, the present study would not have been possible.

I record my sincere gratefulness to several gentlemen who helped me in various ways in completing this project particularly my esteemed colleague Mr. Vijay Nagpal, Lecturer, Department of Laws, Panjab University, Chandigarh.

The courteous and helpful attitude of the members of the staff of the Library of the Department of Laws, Panjab University, Chandigarh and the British Council Division of the British High Commission, AIFACS Building, Rafi Marg, New Delhi, helped me immensely. I acknowledge my debt of gratitude to them.

It would be unjust on my part not to express my feelings of thankfulness to my wife Smt. Sudesh Sharma, Superintendent Legal, Legislative Department, Haryana, for her tolerance and understanding shown during the entire period of research.

My sincere thanks are also due to Mr. Sagar, who has put his earnest labour in typing this thesis.

Chandigarh
November 25, 1985

(S.K. Sharma)