ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to my guide Dr. (Mrs.) Nishtha Jaswal, Professor of Law & Chairperson, Department of Laws, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for providing me an excellent opportunity to work on this research project under her valuable guidance. Indeed, it has been great pleasure and privilege to carry out this challenging research under her supervision. My sincere thanks are due for her valuable suggestions, inspiring guidance and all sorts of co-operation, proficient observations and professional criticism.

I also express my sincere thanks to Dr. Paramjit S. Jaswal, Professor of Law & Vice-Chancellor, Rajiv Gandhi National University of Law, Patiala, for encouraging me to explore my potential as budding researcher. This has actually initiated during a casual discussion on food laws and sharing my exposure on food safety norms of other countries with Dr. P. S. Jaswal. He was the person who encouraged me to get enrolled into the present research work. Without his scholarly guidance, sympathetic and encouraging attitude, it would not have been possible for me to complete the task.

It gives me profound pleasure to acknowledge my deepest gratitude towards Solvent Extractors Association of India (a premier association of vegetable oil industry and trade) and its members who elected me as the President of the association for the tenure 2005 to 2007. Presidentship of SEA has actually given me the opportunity to travel overseas, lead various business delegations and attend seminars related to the food safety laws and norms of edible oil industry. This has not only extended my knowledge and intellect but also gave me an insight of Indian food laws in global context. So I am again thankful to all the Members of Association for providing me this opportunity which served as a foundation of my present research work.
